GUN FIRE HITS MAN IN KNEE

Marengo Resident in City Hospital After Accident on Hunting Trip.

GUN FALLLS FROM AUTO

Most of Right Knee Cap Shot Away by Discharge of Shell.

Virtually the entire charge of a shotgun hit Earl Wigton, 22, of near Marengo, Morrow county, in the right knee yesterday in an unusual hunting accident.

The gun was discharged as it fell from an automobile which Wigton was preparing to leave to accompany three relatives with whom he had driven to a woods near the Wigton home to hunt squirrels.

Wigton was sitting in the rear seat. The butt of the gun fell from the car as the door was opened, its barrel protruding inside the car. As it struck the ground the gun discharged and more than 20 bullets were burried in Wigton's knee.

Surgeons at the Marion City hospital this morning removed most of the bullets and cut away two-thirds of Wigton's right knee cap. Full effect of the wound will not be known for several days.

Wigton, according to news reports from Marengo, had gone hunting yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock with his father, Clarence Wigton, a brother, Murray, and a cousin, Roy Marvin. They were leaving the car to enter a woods when the mishap occurred.

The gun was a .410 gauge repeating shotgun. Part of the charge narrowly missed striking the head of a companion of Wigton in the rear seat.

PLEADS GUILTY TO DRUNKEN DRIVING

Herbert Pine, 43, of Agosta, pleaded guilty at an arraignment in municipal court yesterday to a charge of drunken driving. Sentence was withheld by Municipal Judge Martin pending settlement of damages resulting from a minor collision in which police alleged Pine was involved.

He was arrested at 8 o'clock Saturday night after his car allegedly struck a parked automobile near 388 North Main street. The parked car was owned by Clarence F. Irick of 517 North Main street. It was damaged to the extent of about $15, authorities said.

COUNTY FILES SALES TAX SUIT AGAINST STATE

Action Brought To Prevent Auditor from Withholding Share of Distribution.

FILED IN FRANKLIN COUNTY

Petition Alleges Act Unconstitutional and Questions Amount of Debt.

Marion county yesterday filed suit in Franklin county common pleas court for an injuncuon to restrain the state auditor from withholding the county's share of sales tax revenue. Among the county's contentions in its petition is the statement that the recently enacted state law authorizing the state to hold up sales tax distributions to debtor counties is unconstitutional.

Accompanying the petition is a statement of the amounts due Marion county by the state and which the county argues should be deducted from the $57,420.29, with which the state has charged the county for care of county patients in state institutions.

The county also contests the amount which the state claims. The petition states that while the state bills the county with a flat rate of $286 per capita while the actual cost of maintaining patients averages approximately $140 per capita.

Suit Follows Study

The filing of the suit yesterday afternoon by Prosecuting Attorney Paul D. Michel, follows a study of several weeks of state-county financial relationships. Last week the state withheld the county's share of $6,616 of a statewide distribution of sales tax moneys County Auditor Harry V. Mounts accompanied Mr. Michel to Columbus to file the suit. The suit was filed in the name of the county commissioners.

Mr. Mounts said it is not known how soon the county may have a hearing on its petition and be granted the injunction it is seeking.

The request in the petition follows: "Wherefore, plaintiff prays that a temporary injunction be granted herein enjoining the defendants from withholding the distribution of the local government fund aforesaid to Marion county; that section 5546-20a of the General Code be found to be unconstitutional and null and void; that an accounting be made of the correct balance of indebtedness owed by Marion county to the state of Ohio; for a permanent injunction and for such other and further orders and relief in the premises as may be found just."

County Lists Debts

The list of bills which the county contends the state owes follows:

Relief funds: $12,001.28 for December, 1936, grant not received; $5,321.46 for January, 1937, grant not received; January, 1937, matching funds not received, $623.38; total due $17,945.97.

Court cost bills in criminal cases, $2,766.09; district health funds from 1928 to 1937, $7,270; county board of education for 1928 to 1933, $241.23; Wilda Foos, probate case, excess charge after patient's death, $3,319.26; Arthur Bender case, recaptured and hospitalization of parole violator, $171.02.

The total amounts listed are $32,313.50. Thus if the $32,313.59 is subtracted from the $57,420.29 with which the state charges the county, the net which the county

LINDBERGHS TO STAY AT LONG BARN HOME

Landlord Told Flier and Family Will Stay Until "After Christmas at Least."

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 4—The Lindberghs have decided to spend another Christmas in the rambling, ancient, timbered house of Long Barn at Seven Oaks, Kent, the landlord revealed today.

Long Barn's owner, Harold G. Nicolson, member of the house of commons, said Col. Charles A. Lindbergh gave notice that he intended to remain "until after Christmas at least."

A friend once said, "if Lindbergh cracks his head a few times on the low doorways, he'll decide to move."

Whether or not the lank flier cracked his head, he seems satisfied with the picturesque retreat.

Even the landlord, who resides at Sissinghurst Castle, Kent, said he could not understand why the colonel is content to stay in drafty Long Barn during the winter.

The renting arrangement is quite informal. Nicolson originally offered the residence to the colonel to "stay as long as you like."

A real estate agent at Seven Oaks handles the rent. The colonel pays promptly. Neither the agent nor Nicolson give any thought or care concerning the colonel's pursuits there.

YOUTH BADLY HURT AS AUTO OVERTURNS

Robert Disbennett, 18, in Hospital After Accident Near Caledonia.

Robert Disbennett, 18, of 269 Bellefontaine avenue is in the City hospital today with injuries suffered when his car left the highway and overturned one mile west of Caledonia on route 30-S, last night about 10 o'clock.

His condition is "fair" hospital attendants reported today. He was to undergo an X-ray examination later to determine the extent of his injuries. He suffered severe back and chest bruises, a cut under the right eye and probable cracked ribs, it was reported.

Disbennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Disbennett, works for his father as an attendant at the Sohio Service station at Main and Fairground streets. He had gone to Caledonia last night to demonstrate an automobile and was returning home when the accident occurred.

He was westbound and his car left the highway on a curve, patrolmen reported. The youth was apparently thrown from the vehicle as it careened about 400 feet before turning over into a ditch at the north side of the highway, officers from the patrol sub-station here said. The car was demolished and was removed from the scene by a wrecker from Nick's Super Service garage.

The youth was riding alone and two passers-by, Richard Fox of Marion and John Baker of Lorain, brought him to the City hospital. Patrolmen who went to the scene were unable to locate any witnesses to the accident.

CANCELLATION OF PART OF UNPAID TAXES ASKED

Expert Claims Wiping Out Portion of Delinquent Special Assessments Would Encourage Payment of Remainder.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 5 — A recommendation that county officials "write off" as a bad debt part of the $80,000,000 owed by Ohio property owners in delinquent special assessments caused members of a special legislative commission to scratch their heads today.

The proposal came from Ferd Becker, state tax commission expert of county financial affairs.

The commission, charged with devising methods for a greater collection of the more than $196,000,000 in delinquent taxes—both special assessments and general property—is polling the county auditors for opinions and figures.

Becker's idea is that it would be better for county officials to pare down the special assessment debt and encourage property owners to pay a larger share of it than for the taxpayers as a whole to continue carrying the major portion.

The special assessments, levied on abutting property for street paving and installation of sewerage systems, principally, have been piling up for years.

In many instances the assessments far exceed the value of

Union Wants Roosevelt To Disband Labor Board

A.F.L. Affiliate Claims NLRB Supports C.I.O.; Chairman Faces Heckling When Addressing Convention.

By The Associated Press

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 5—A fiery resolution introduced at the American Federation of Labor convention by the Boot and Shoe Workers union called upon President Roosevelt today to disband the national labor relations board because, it said, the board is "actively supporting and upholding" the C.I.O.

The resolution, which A.F.L. leaders said echoed sentiment of the federation as a whole, was sent to the resolutions committee of the convention, which opened here yesterday. There was no indication when the committee would report on it.

The resolution asked Mr. Roosevelt, congress and Secretary of Labor Perkins to discharge the labor board's employes because board personnel is "selected, dictated, controlled and supervised by the C. I. O.," headed by John L. Lewis.

Wants Rebels Expelled

William Green, A.F.L. president, called upon the federation yesterday to expel Lewis and his 10 "rebel" unions.

"The hour is here," he said in a speech opening the convention, "having appealed to them for two years to come back, you will now order your board of directors to revoke the charters of this dual movement."

More fireworks were in the air, meanwhile, as the time neared for J. Warren Madden, chairman of the labor board, to address the convention. Leaders said privately Madden may be in for a taste of heckling.

In its report to the convention, the federation's executive council said the board had given the public good grounds to believe it was "decidedly pro-C.I.O." But added that some of the criticism directed at the board was "only natural against a government board which has been functioning such a short time and under such serious handicaps."

Opposes Interference

The council suggested the board keep out of A.F.L.-C.I.O. disputes, saying that the Wagner act was not intended to cover such.

John P. Frey, president of the metal trades department, introduced a resolution calling for amendment of the Wagner act to require the board to conduct all elections by crafts.

Green climaxed two long speeches against the C.I.O. yesterday by accusing Lewis of using the rebel organization to further his own ambitions to be president of the United States.

"The C.I.O. has served notice of its intention to form an independent labor party," Green said in a radio talk last night.

"Its leader has smilingly listened to himself being hailed by supporters at a public gathering as the next president of the United States.

"It is being used and its members are being used as a nucleus for a political organization designed to bring about that result."

To Help Keep Peace

He said America, determined to stay out of war, would not remain aloof from these efforts, and, as if in reply to those who have been urging an American neutrality proclamation, declared:

"The peace-loving nations must make a concerted effort in opposition to those violations of treaties and those ignorings of humane instincts which today are creating a state of international anarchy and instability from which there is no escape through mere isolation or neutrality."

He did not disclose what he had in mind in this direction but he hinted at measures which in effect would "quarantine" the militaristic "10 per cent" to protect the 90 per cent of the world population he described as peace loving.

Says Lawlessness Spreads

"It seems unfortunately true," he asserted, "that the epidemic of world lawlessness is spreading.

"When an epidemic of physical disease starts to spread, the community approves and joins in a quarantine of the patients in order to protect the health of the community against the spread of the disease."

The President motored to the center of Chicago's centennial jubilee celebration through a down town storm of ticker tape and paper scraps.

Scores of thousands lined Michigan boulevard and other streets to cheer him along.

Riding with Mr. Roosevelt in the parade to the $11,500,000 bridge were Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois, U. S. Sen. William H. Dieterich, Democrat of Illinois.

Units of the army and navy, the American Legion and the national guard, Boy Scout troops and service groups strode through the streets in the wake of the President's machine.

A score of bands, blared martial music as the marchers escorted the chief executive of the new bridge on the lake front.

750,000 Crowd Streets

Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes estimated "three quarters of a million" persons joined in the mass demonstration.

Spectators stood six to 10 deep on both sides of the two-mile parade route.

Cheers welled from the crowd and a blizzard of confetti swirled down from loop skyscrapers as the smiling chief executive proceeded in an open car to the span across the mouth of the Chicago river.

Hodes, secretary of the charter jubilee committee which arranged the program, figured 50,000 to 75,000 marched in the procession while 50,000 assembled in the vicinity of the speakers' stand on the bridge under a hot sun.

The weather was mild, a warm sun permitting the President and members of his party to go out without topcoats.

The great throng cheered for a full minute and railroad and river boats shrieked their whistles as the President stood before a battery of microphones to broadcast to the nation his most important message on foreign affairs since he took office.

Introduced as Friend

Mayor Edward J. Kelly presented him as "our friend and good neighbor."

The President declared the hopes of mankind for a continuing era of international peace, raised to great heights with the signing of the Kellogg-Briand pact 15 years ago, had "lately given away to a haunting fear of calamity."

Cheers and handclapping greeted his declaration that there "must be a return to a belief in the pledged word, in the value of a signed treaty" and recognition of the fact that "national morality is as vital as private morality."

"America hates war," he said, emphatically. "America hopes for peace. Therefore, America ac-

U. S. MARINES MOVE AS SHRAPNEL STRIKE

Quit Defense Posts Near Foreign Section of Shanghai as Battle Rages.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Oct. 5 — United States marines were sprayed with shrapnel today and forced to evacuate their defense outposts along the northern boundary of the international settlement when Japanese warplanes rained 15 bombs on one of China's largest flour mills just across the 40-yard wide Soochow creek.

The Japanese claimed to have driven China's warplanes from the air, a spokesman asserting that some 300 Chinese fighting craft had been destroyed in the three months of undeclared war. The Japanese drive to crack the Chinese machine guns mowed down Japanese marines like 10 pins.

As the battle raged just across the narrow creek from the American positions, Brig. Gen. John C. Beaumont ordered his marines to withdraw temporarily out of the line of fire.

The Chinese and Japanese lines were no farther apart than 10 yards at many points of the line through the devastated Chinese city. The Pantheon theater was changed into a no-man's land with Japanese sand bag barricades at the back door and Chinese at the front door.

Japanese bombers dumped load after load on the area and in rapid succession landed three direct hits on Shanghai's north station which is now a badly battered ruin.

Rear Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, decided today to keep an American destroyer squadron at Chefoo, pending the outcome of Chinese threats to blow up the breakwater in the harbor if Japanese attempt to land there.

FOUR PLAYERS TRADED

2 AKRON JAIL BREAKERS HELD

Youths Boastfully Admit Series of Robberies and Stripping of Victims.

PAIR CAUGHT IN CAFE

Identical Brown Clothes Arouses Suspicion of Police at Circleville.

By The Associated Press

CIRCLEVILLE, O., Oct. 5—Two natty youths who broke from the Summit county jail at Akron Sept. 17 were captured peacefully at 3 a. m. today by Circleville police, to whom they boastfully admitted a wild series of robberies in which they stripped the clothing from their victims.

The boys gave their names as James Evans, 19, of Chillicothe, and James Burbank, alias Bennett, 18, of Manchester, N. H.

They sauntered into an all night cafe in the center of Circleville this morning as night policeman Alva Shasteen and George Green were drinking coffee there.

Dressed Alike

Their identical clothing, brown ensembles of suits, shoes and hats, attracted the officers' attention.

The policemen quietly left and inspected a car which the boys had parked at the curb. Shasteen identified it as a machine stolen from Dayton Sept. 26.

Returning to the restaurant, the officers seized the two youths, taking a .32 calibre pistol from Burbank without difficulty.

Shasteen said the captives insolently disclosed their identity and related a series of robberies.

Shasteen said the pair told him they fled from the Summit county jail when a plumber left a door open, and that they walked directly to the Akron Y. M. C. A., where they asked the clerk to summon a taxicab.

Use Coat Hanger

By pressing a coat hanger against the driver's back, they forced him to drive to Columbus, where he was required to undress while the youths drove off.

A visit to the Columbus Y. M. C. A. followed, and another cab was called from there. This time, the youths laughingly asserted, they made effective use of a water pistol bought in a Columbus 10-cent store.

After minor forays in Pickaway and Ross counties, they went to Dayton, where Gene Isham was robbed of his automobile and a sum of money. The strip procedure was used in each holdup.

SLUMP IN LIVESTOCK TO CUT MEAT PRICE

Cattle, Hogs and Sheep in Major Recession from August Peak.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 5—Prospects of lower meat prices appeared today as cattle, hog and sheep quotations registered further sharp losses in the Chicago livestock market.

Both live market quotations and wholesale meat prices have declined substantially in the past few days. Livestock men said declines of this nature usually were reflected at retail counters.

Hogs slumped 50 cents a hundredweight with some bids off 75 cents. Best grades fell to $11.50, showing a decline of $2.50 a hundredweight since the 11-year peak was reached early in August. Cattle showed further losses of 25 cents a hundredweight after yesterday's steep tumble of 50 cents to $1.50, one of the sharpest breaks on record. Lambs lost 25 cents on top of yesterday's $1 to $1.50 cents decline.

SCORES AGGRESSORS

Attacks Treaty Breakers and Those Who Ignore Humane Instincts as Breeders of Anarchy.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 5 — President Roosevelt bitterly arraigned aggressor nations before the bar of world opinion today and called upon peace loving countries to join in a "concerted effort" to restore international tranquility.

Speaking out formally and aggressively on foreign affairs for the first time in months, but withholding any definite proposal for an international conference or invocation of peace pacts, he asserted bluntly, in dedicating the outer link bridge here:

"There must be positive endeavors to preserve peace."

To Help Keep Peace

He said America, determined to stay out of war, would not remain aloof from these efforts, and, as if in reply to those who have been urging an American neutrality proclamation, declared:

3 School Grid Games At Harding Stadium This Week

PRESIDENTS TO MEET STRONG LIMA TEAM HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Richwood To Play Junior Varsity; Junior High Elevens Play Thursday.

Three football games of interest to Marion scholastic followers will be played on the Harding gridiron here this week. In the spotlight of the pigskin activity will be Lima South's invasion to clash with Harding High Presidents in a floodlight encounter, Friday night.

Another Friday game will find Richwood coming to Marion to lock horns with Harding junior varsity team. Thursday afternoon city junior high competition will take the center of the stage as teams from Thomas A. Edison and Vernon Heights Junior High schools meet at Harding stadium.

St. Mary parochial gridders will be idle until Oct. 22 when they play at Carey.

Lima South's visit here is expected to be the most crucial encounter of the early season schedule for Harding. Teams from the two schools have never carried on continuous athletic relations, although former athletic representatives of Lima South and Harding have faced each other occasionally in previous years.

Lima Team Favored

Despite the fact that Coach Carl Cramer's gridders are undefeated this season they will enter Friday night's game as the underdogs. Fans are of the opinion that the Presidents will need to display more football prowess than they have shown in all of their previous encounters to hold the highly touted invaders on even terms.

Harding's record, since its weak start against Mt. Gilead, has become more impressive with decisive victories over Delaware, Willis and Upper Sandusky, but fans still aren't convinced that the Presidents can meet Lima South on better than even terms. This week's practice workouts and game are expected to contribute heavily to the "making or breaking" of Harding's grid aggregation.

The Presidents, if they can hold Lima South on even terms, may be able to open their North Central Ohio league competition on Oct. 22 without having been defeated. Marion will be host to Findlay next week, but advance reports indicate that Harding should make a successful stand against the last of the non-conference foes.

Richwood Tilt Friday

Harding's "B" team, victorious 13 to 0 over the Bucyrus High reserves in the only junior varsity game this season, will entertain Richwood, Friday. The game was originally scheduled as a preliminary to the Harding-Lima South contest, but efforts were being made today to move the playing time of the junior varsity affair to 4 o'clock. By playing the game in the afternoon it could be completed without the use of the floodlights and would not interfere with the varsity performance.

Thursday afternoon Harding Stadium will be the scene of the junior high game matching teams from Edison and Vernon. Both of the clubs have suffered 13 to 0 defeats at the hands of the Central team, and their possibility of remaining in the championship race hinges entirely on the outcome of this week's game. Edison's championship team of last season is expected to be evenly matched with Vernon.

1937 Series Holds Promise of Being Greatest in History from Box Office Angle; Gate May Reach $1,500,000.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—From the box office angle, the 1937 world series between the Yankees and Giants, opening tomorrow at Yankee Stadium, promises to be the greatest in history.

Attendance and gate receipts records will go crashing regardless of how many games are played. Rebuilt Yankee Stadium will seat 71,303 persons, largest seating capacity in history for a world series game. The Polo Grounds can accommodate 56,437 persons. Thus the combined seating capacity of the two parks will be 127,470, biggest ever.

If the series should go six games as it did last year, the gate receipts may reach $1,500,000 and the attendance more than 380,000. Capacity crowds for six games would mean a new total attendance record, a new gate receipts record for a series, single game records for attendance and gate receipts, a new high for the players' pool, with the winners and losers each drawing record-breaking checks.

Nickel Won't Buy Peanuts

A nickel world series, indeed. A nickel won't even buy a hot dog or a bag of peanuts once you get inside the park.

And getting in the park involves an outlay that can't be figured in nickels and dimes. Box seats are $6.60 and reserved seats $5.50. These had to be purchased in blocks of three per game. That is, if a fan wanted to see every game he had to put up $33 in advance for tickets to the first six games. Tickets for the seventh game, if necessary, won't be sold until the day of the game.

Besides the $33 outlay for a six-game series, subway fare (the only nickel item in the budget), programs (they're a dime), hot dogs, peanuts, soda pop, beer and cushions run the total world series expenses for one fan to close to $40.

There are unreserved seats at $3.30 and bleacher seats at $1.10, but these are placed on sale the day of the game, and involve long waits in line and other inconveniences which make attending a world series game an ordeal.

Seven New Records Likely

Some of the records likely to be wiped out when Col. Jake Ruppert, multi-millionaire owner of the Yankees, and Horace Stoneham, youthful playboy prexy of the Giants, complete their financial statements, are:

Largest attendance, one game, 66,669; Yankees-Giants at Yankee Stadium, Oct. 4, 1935.

Largest receipts, one game, $240,591, Yankees-Giants at Yankee Stadium, Oct. 4, 1936.

Largest attendance, one series (7 games), 328,051; Yankees-Cardinals, 1926.

Largest receipts, one series (6 games), $1,304,399 (including the $100,000 radio pool), Yankees-Giants, 1936.

Largest players' pool, $460,002.66, Yankees-Giants, 1936.

Largest winning players' share, $6,544, Detroit Tigers, 1935.

Largest losing players' share, $4,656.40, Giants, 1936.

IN 1904, Boston, American league winner, challenged the New Giants, National champions. The reply by Giant Manager John McGraw that he did not wish to "endanger the standing of my team by sending it against a minor league club," almost precipitated a war. ### MRS. ESTELLE PAGE TOURNEY FAVORITE

By The Associated Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 5—The favorite's role in the National Women's amateur golf tournament belonged today to Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, long-hitting Greensboro, N. C., veteran and medal winner the past two years.

The Tarheel favorite was the only one to break 80 over the rain-soaked Memphis country club course yesterday, posting a par 79.

Her first round opponent today was Marian Leachman, Berkeley, Calif., girl who left her law studies to bid for national golf fame in this event. Miss Leachman reached the title bracket after a playoff against other golfers having medal scores of 95.

KENTON, Oct. 5—The youngster population of Mt. Victory is busy these evenings with home work, as result of a ruling of village officials that no boy of 16 years of age or under may be on the street after 7 o'clock unless accompanied by a parent or parents.

The curfew was ordered by Mayor G. F. Meench after numerous complaints that bands of boys had destroyed property, damaged gardens and committed many petty offenses.

HUBBELL, GOMEZ TO CLASH IN OPENER AT YANKEE STADIUM

50,000 Persons Expected To See Opener, Starting at 1:30 P. M. Wednesday.

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 — The Giants and the Yankees, both fat and both confident they hold a handful of aces, polished their final workouts early this afternoon, and at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow they smack into each other in the second straight "Subway Series."

Two more substantial, complacent ball clubs probably never met in a World Series since the annual fall follies were inaugurated in 1903. Neither appears to be unduly excited nor awed, but just the same, the series promises to be hard-fought and exciting every foot of the way.

The battle lines are definitely drawn, pending a last-minute change by Manager Bill Terry of the Giants or Joe McCarthy of the Yanks. Carl Hubbell, the Oklahoma farmer, will try to win his third straight series opener for the Giants, and Vernon (El Gomfy) Gomez, another lefty, will toil for the Yanks.

Leading Southpaws

They are perhaps the leading southpaws in the game, and the prospect of a thrilling duel between them has led optimistic club officials to hope to break the World Series attendance record of 66,669 set at the stadium a year ago. Indications today, however, were that the opening day attendance would not be much more than 50,000.

The Yanks' lineup is settled for the series with the same array that swamped the American League under a deluge of base-hits, except that hard-hitting George Selkirk has recovered from a mid-season hurt just in time to take over his right field post. He will join Joe DiMaggio, Lou Gehrig and Bill Dickey, compose the backbone of the Yankees' de-astating attack.

The Giants, who are the weaker-hitting outfit and therefore compelled to conquer every possible angle in their struggle for runs, will do considerable shifting about. Against Gomez tomorrow they will have big Hank Leiber, right-handed power hitter, playing center field and batting clean-up. When Red Ruffing, a right hander, takes the hill for the Yanks in the second tussel, Lou Chiozza will be in the middle pasture for the Giants, with Jimmy Ripple batting fourth.

Terry Back on Field

Terry, who has so far recovered from his influenza that he took a few cuts at the plate in yesterday's practice, has delegated the veteran Gus Mancuso to catch both Hubbell in tomorrow's game and Slim Melton in the second game. Harry Danning is slated to catch Hal Schumacher in the third.

All of which indicates the essential difference between the two New York teams. The Yanks are set to slug it out on their customary lines. The Giants are going to play it "cute" and fight for a run at a time, placing their trust in Hubbell, Melton and Schumacher to curb the enemy.

The key man of the series, with all due respect to Hubbell, is very likely to be Melton, the tall hungry-looking mountaineer known to his teammates as "Mickey Mouse." If Melton, a 20-game winner in his first season, throttles the Yankee batters in the second game, then it's anybody's series, and probably the Giants'.

DRESSEN TO GET OFFER

By The Associated Press

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 5—Plans for a conference with Charley Dressen, retiring manager of the Cincinnati Reds, were made known today by Fay Murray, president of Nashville ball club. Murray said his main reason for going was to persuade Dressen to manage the Vols next season. It was understood the salary would be at least $10,000.

Angelo Uses New Trick To Floor Nenoff in Mat Tilt

Italy's swarthy little Marino Angelo taught the poker-faced Bulgarian, Steve Nenoff, a thing or three about wrestling as he won their featured clash at last night's grappling show in the Marion Steam Shovel arena. After splitting the first two falls, Angelo left no doubt in either Nenoff's or the spectators' minds as to who was the best man in the decisive round. He took the final fall in 10 minutes with a shoulder press, after flipping Nenoff back into the ring from the protective cover of the ropes.

An enraged Count Von Bromberg of Germany plowed his way to a decisive two-fall win over Ali Pasha of Turkey in the other needle-ed melee. Irked no end by the brown-skinned warrior's choking and hair pulling, Germany's rough master of the mat made quick work of his victory by taking the initial fall in 14 minutes and the second in seven.

Angelo pulled a new trick out of the bag for the benefit of his hulking opponent and Nenoff apparently didn't like the display in the least. The Italian shoved his opponent into the ropes face first and on the rebound he chopped him with clenched fists in the small of the back. Nenoff staggered under the hefty kidney punch and the attack paved the way for the Italian's hammerlock that forced the Bulgarian to concede the fall at the end of 12 minutes.

Nenoff's mean ring disposition was shown off in the second round when he repeated twisted the Italian's leg over the lower strand of the ropes and refused to break the hold even at the insistence of the referee. Angelo, limping on the bad left leg after the workout on the ropes, fell prey to a step-over toe hold that gave Nenoff the second fall in 13 minutes.

The decisive round found the grapplers in and out of the ring, with Angelo leading most of the way. The Italians victory brought wide applause from the audience who heartily disliked his opponent.

Ali Pasha's brown-covered countenance let him in for a half-pulling session with the curly-topped German, and the Turk brought it on himself. The brown-skinned mat man's rough display led him into early trouble with the German. Von Bromberg, an even-tempered grappler, was irked to the point where he broke loose and scored a quick and decisive victory over his opponent.

The German won the first fall in 14 minutes with a series of elbow jolts and a shoulder press. Enraged by Ali Pasha's hair-pulling tactics Von Bromberg chinned viciously to his opponent's chin growth and applied a series of catapults to win the second fall in seven minutes.

Jim Spencer of Boston and Alex Tesiock of Montreal, Can., battled to a draw in a rousing 20-minute preliminary. Spencer almost lost the bout by disqualification but his opponent refused to take the referee's decision and the grapplers battled through to the final bell.

Bowling Results

Sechrist's Single Game of 218 and Three-Game Total of 605 Helps Cleaners Set Pace.

Sechrist, lead-off bowler of the DeLuxe Dry Cleaners squad, top notch entry in the Mercantile league, set a blistering pace as he garnered individual honors in last night's matches on the Recreation Center alleys. He opened with a 214 game, dropped to 173 and in his last attempt made the high mark of 218, for a series total of 605. Sechrist's heavy pin barrage helped his team to the best single game tally of 845, while the team series high score of 2,392 was rolled by the Saratoga Grill entry.

Individual honors in the Ladies All Star competition last night were divided, Conroy of the Marion Steam Shovel team rolling the heaviest series of 465 and Blum of the Hoover Jewelry quartet garnering the highest single game of 167. The S. S. Kresge Co. squad rolled a 540 game and a 1488 series for the best team performance. Complete results and team standings follow:

MARION BOWLERS TO MEET TOP FLIGHT SQUAD HERE SUNDAY

Walter Mercurio To Head Cleveland Team Coming to Recreation Center.

Walter "Skang" Mercurio of Cleveland, well-known in state and national bowling circles, will lead the championship team of that city to Marion for an exhibition game next Sunday night, it was announced today by Arthur Winterstellar, manager of the Marion Recreation Center.

Mercurio, who boasts the highest individual bowling average in United States, directs the destinies of the Greenhouse Vegetable Packing Co. quintet which last year won the city title in Cleveland. Mercurio's fame is so far spread enough that last season he was engaged to write a series of syndicated newspaper articles on the bowling game.

Traveling with him will be other pin-topplers who are also widely known. Among them are Joe Bodis, who has participated in American Bowling Congress national tournaments since 1924 when he was a member of the national championship team, Emil Saperki, one of Cleveland's better young bowlers, James Strumm and Pat Alberts complete the roster of the quintet which will appear here.

Their match with the Marion Recreation Center team is scheduled for 8 o'clock, Sunday night. Members of the Marion outfit who will face the visiting stars are Art Winterstellar, Lee Schuler, John Steinmetz, Paul Boyd and Samuel Sharrock.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, Oct. 6

A DAY of much activity and possibly surprising and intriguing events is presaged from the dominant planetary configurations. Certain peculiar or secret influences may make caution, precaution, tact and diplomacy advisable. A quick mind may call for sudden decisions and journeys.

Those whose birthday it is may be favored for a year of success, with alertness, quick decisions and moves indicated by curious or subtle influences. Shrewdness, tact and even discussion or secrecy may help turn these into profitable channels.

A child born on this day may be surprising and practical, and have some restless and peculiar characteristics.

STOCKS CRASH 1 TO 4 POINTS

Few Down 10 at Worst as Street Hears Roosevelt Warn of War Dangers.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—Stocks broke sharply in today's market, many leaders dropping 1 to 4 points to new lows for the year or longer. A few were off as much as 10 at the worst.

Selling speeded up at the opening but slowed later when mild support appeared for the more depressed groups.

Bonds and commodities trailed the stock division.

Touching off the relapse, brokers said, was the President's speech at Chicago, painting a gloomy picture of world political and war conditions and stressing the threat of their dangers to the United States.

In the chief executive's talk, made some two hours after the start of trading here, it was noted aggressive nations were bitterly arraigned and the country warned that "while America is determined to stay out of war, it will not remain aloof" to efforts to maintain "the sanctity of international treaties."

Aggravating the markets' gloom, it was added, was failure of the list to follow through on its last week's rally; lessening of confidence regarding nearby resumption of business improvement on a large scale; weakening of foreign markets; heavier offerings of American securities from abroad; and the growing belief congress will be convened in special session to enact further new deal legislation.

Steels, motors, coppers, farm implements and numerous miscellaneous issues were in the van of the decline. Rails and utilities were more resistant than others.

Conspicuous losers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Republic, Inland Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Anaconda, General Electric, Westinghouse, International Harvester, Western Union, Montgomery Ward, U. S. Rubber and Goodyear.

While carriers were still under the influence of the big payroll raise resulting from the wage dispute compromise, the selling reluctance in this department was thought to reflect hopes higher freight rates would be granted which will partially offset the boost.

Occasional buyers with small orders were able to cover limited requirements at prices somewhat under the general level of quotations.

EPISCOPALS CONSIDER ELECTING A PRIMATE

New Office Sought To Overcome Overlapping Duties in Dual Leadership.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 5—The Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States approached today an important decision on the creation of a primate, comparable to the Archbishop of Canterbury in the parent church of England.

This proposal, promoted largely by dissatisfaction over the overlapping of duties in the present dual church leadership, developed as perhaps the most vital business of its 52nd triennial general convention, opening tomorrow.

At the same time an authoritative source said that reelection of the Rt. Rev. James DeWolf Perry, presiding bishop for the last seven years, may hinge upon the convention's verdict on the proposal to set up a primate, or archbishop.

If the convention, which is the church's supreme legislative body, sets up the office of archbishop, several members of the house of bishops may seek the position. If the presiding bishop's status is not changed, Bishop Perry, who also heads the diocese of Rhode Island, is considered likely to be reelected for another six-year term, this source declared.

Many of the approximately 775 persons constituting the house of bishops and the house of clerical and lay deputies are agreed that a change in the church's administrative set-up is necessary, but are divided over what the change should be.

The presiding bishopric carries with it the office of chairman of the national council and chairman of the board of domestic and foreign missionary societies. There is also the office of president of the national council, with widespread duties, now held by Bishop Philip Cook of Delaware.

HOPE STILL LINGERS FOR MISSING CO-ED

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 5—It was six months ago today that Ruth Baumgardner, 22, disappeared mysteriously from her Ohio Wesleyan dormitory at Delaware, O., but hope still is expressed that the search may be successful.

"There's nothing left to work on at this time," said Gaston Stickeler, private investigator retained by the girl's Lakewood, O., parents.

"It has been weeks since anyone has turned up even a false trail. Possibly winter will help a little. She may have gone off on her own and found it easy enough to earn her living in the summer.

"Winter is a good deal harder and we may hear from her."

HIGH COURT PONDERS BLACK CHALLENGES

May Announce Monday Whether It Will Pass on Eligibility of New Justice.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 — The supreme court began today its secret consideration of more than 400 petitions, including two challenges to the right of Associate Justice Hugo L. Black to remain on the bench.

The conferences, held in a closely-guarded room at the rear of the court chamber, will continue on Thursday and Saturday.

Observers expect the justices to announce next Monday whether they will consent to pass on questions raised as to the eligibility of their new colleague, who took his seat yesterday.

His challengers — neither of whom mentioned the controversy over Black's onetime Ku Klux Klan membership — are Albert Levitt, former federal judge in the Virgin Islands, and Patrick Henry Kelly, Irish-born Boston attorney.

They contend Black's appointment was unconstitutional because he voted for the bill giving retired justices full pay for life.

It was generally assumed that Black would not participate in consideration of the petitions affecting him.

After he marched into the chamber yesterday with the eight older justices, he listened gravely while Kelly and Levitt made their statements.

The opening day of the new term was traditionally austere, and the new justice was as reserved as his colleagues. As he walked out, however, he smiled broadly, apperently at a remark from Justice Roberts.

Mrs. Black, who sat on the front seat of a section reserved for families and friends of the justices, was radiant. Among those who shook hands with her were Mrs. Hughes, wife of the chief justice, and Mrs. Louis Brandeis, wife of the eldest justice.

Justice Black entertained his wife and some friends at luncheon in his three-room suite in the $11,500,000 court building. Late in the afternoon the couple were guests at tea at the home of Justice and Mrs. Harlan F. Stone.

FORMER POLICEMAN HUNTED IN KILLINGS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—Detectives hunted a retired police sergeant for questioning today in the "red circle" slaying of Lewis Weiss, 20, and Frances Hajek, 19.

After querying 80 friends and acquaintances of the former high school athletic star and his sweetheart, detectives abandoned a theory that the couple had been slain by a jealous suitor of the girl as they sat in a parked car in lonely Hollis woods in Queens. The authorities did not name the man they sought.

BRITISH DESTROYER HITS BACK AT PIRATE

Tons of Depth Bombs Churn Mediterranean After Submarine Fires on Warship.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 5—Tons of modern death charges from seven British destroyers churned the newest Mediterranean piracy spot into a lake of death today for the mysterious submarine attacker of his majesty's destroyer Basilisk.

The mighty concussive forces unleashed under the Mediterranean off Cape San Antonio, Spain, seemed certain to have sealed the doom of the undersea raider and its crew if caught within their area.

With royal air force planes overhead, the destroyers plumbed the depths with bombs weighing 180 to 300 pounds, catapulted or rolled from their decks, capable of explosion at any depth through hydrostatic firing valves. Each charge had a radius of destruction up to half a mile.

British circles were cautious to the extreme about speculating on the identity of the torpedoing marauder.

Reports of new aerial reinforcements for the Spanish insurgents coupled with recent destructive air raids on Barcelona and Valencia, aroused fear in some quarters, however, that Italy was determined to wipe out what she terms the "bolshevist" influence in Spain before retiring from the Spanish military scene.

Observers on the Spanish coast felt that the search for the Basilisk's attacker had been ended last night when the cruising warships steamed off south after six hours of depth bombing. But they returned to the deadly job for a while today, then took their regular piracy patrol positions in midmorning.

Diplomatic quarters, remembering the tumult of press hints and charges against Italy on such an occasion a little more than a month ago, feared lest the explosive incident shake the foundation of a newly attempted understanding with the Rome government on the Spanish civil war.

REA POLES NEARLY ALL SET IN COUNTY

Steady Progress Reported in Rural Electrification Project.

Work is progressing rapidly on construction of power lines for the Marion Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., Project Superintendent Paul Byers reported today. Pole setting is now virtually completed through the county and workers yesterday began stringing wire in the western half.

In the eastern half, where major lines are now erected, workers are engaged in extending service lines from the poles into homes, Mr. Byers said.

Next Monday workers will begin staking out of approximately 20 miles of extension lines scattered through the county. The extensions are being made where farm owners have applied for power for the original project was set up.

When the lines are energized later this fall, power will flow into some 650 farm homes over 250 miles of line. No date has been set for turning on the power.

The work is being done by the Paul L. Gilmore Construction Co. of Columbus. The company made a successful bid of approximately $192,000.

CITY TEACHERS MAP PROGRAM

Raymond McNutt Begins Duties as President of Marion City Association.

Raymond McNutt began his term of office as president of the Marion City Teachers' association at a meeting of the organization yesterday afternoon at Harding High school. He succeeds A. T Allen, who presided at the opening of the meeting.

Other officers this year are Miss Isabelle Stump, vice president; Miss Zelmah Howard, secretary and J. C Emmons, treasurer. Mr McNutt announced the following committee chairmen: membership, John L. Gries; legislation, Harold Runkle; flower, Miss Lela Brookshire; publicity, W. E Orentt; public relations, Miss Audrey Belander; professional relations, A C. Bippus; social, Miss Ruth Powell, Miss Hildegarde Wanner Miss Rosanna Crow, Miss Isabel Umpher, Miss Dorothy Hanson, Miss Laurel Hanley, Miss Elizabeth Hinklin Miss Lois Hall, George Brandon and Carl Brickley.

The problems of the association during the year 1937-38, was outlined by Mr. McNutt as follows:

"Routine matters facing our organization this year are those of enlisting members, keeping our constitution as modern as we are, gathering together for two large social functions during the year, recognizing and sympathizing with those in grief within our own organization, sponsoring American Education Week, and collecting professional literature.

"Familiar problems that are growing with us are issues of state legislation, the political organization of our own state association, problems of tenure, war, local elections, federal aid to education, the home contact with the school situation, professional standards and enthusiasm, and teaching conditions.

"As a result of this philosophy we are facing new issues, namely: 100 per cent attendance at all meetings; representatives from this group on state committees; the possibility of public forums or symposiums at election times; public recognition of the worthwhile, progressive attempts of education within our own system; placing of our own members as speakers before civic groups; the possibility of a teachers' dramatic production, a teachers' chorus; and adequate physical activity for the teacher who spends most of his time behind a desk; a code of recognition in instances of death, illness, etc.; visiting privileges; original professional literature, the increasing popularity of the panel discussion followed by public forum; and many others."

J Eugene Auld delegate to the National Educational association convention in Detroit, made his report, which was followed by a report by the committee on the revision of the constitution. The revisions were recently adopted will make the association "more effective as a definite service organization in the community," officers said.

A professional meeting will be held Oct. 21 at which there will be a panel discussion and open forum on the topic, "Trends in Modern Education." The association accepted an invitation of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs to cooperate in bringing Sherwood Eddy to Marion in April.

Other meetings of the association will be held on Dec. 6, February 7 and May 2.

THREE MEN HELD HERE RELEASED

After checking their finger prints with records at Ohio penitentiary, police yesterday learned that the men had no prison record, according to a communication from Columbus. The three were charged with intoxication yesterday and all entered pleas of guilty when arraigned in municipal court. Each was given a suspended fine of $10 and costs under the condition that they leave the city immediately.

Tentative Approval Given 1938 City School Budget

Board Estimates Needs for Next Year at $400,250; Vocational Program Discussed.

Tentative approval to a budget for 1938 totaling $400,250 for operating expenses, $28,250 more than was allowed for this year, was given by the city board of education last night at its October meeting at the school administration building. The increase is a result of pay raises granted to teachers this year, the resultant increase in cost of teachers' retirement payments and the newly established retirement system for service employes.

The board also authorized Supt. C. A. Hudson to make a survey of the possibilities of using State street school building for a city-wide vocational training center.

The bulk of the increase in operating expenses, approximately $26,000, will come in teachers' salaries restoring in part pay cuts made in recent years when the schools were financially handicapped. About $1,000 more comes in maintenance of the school plant and the remainder for retirement systems according to Clerk Frank C. Gegenheimer who supervised drafting of the budget and presented it to the board. The total asked for teachers is $307,000 as compared with $281,000 last year.

Hearing Set for Oct. 15.

A public hearing will be held Oct. 15 at the school administration and at that time any citizen may appear and speak for or against the proposed budget. After the hearing the budget will be given final approval by the board and submitted to the county budget commission for use in drafting tax rates for next year.

The principal sources of revenue of the schools and the amounts expected for next year are:

General real estate and classified personal property tax, $183,000, foreign tuition, $5,000, text book sale, $1,000, miscellaneous services, $800, irreducible debt from the state to the schools, $450, state and federal aid for crippled school, $5,000; state school foundation, $191,437.82, and the remainder as a balance expected to be left from this year's operations.

Last year the schools asked for $396,248 in their budget, only $4,002 less than they are asking this year. They were allowed $372,000 last year by the budget commission.

In addition to operating expenses $122,858.25 for bonds and interest in comparison to $130,166.25 asked last year. The amount allowed by the budget commission last year was $111,084.50.

Vocational Training

The survey of the possibilities of State street school as a vocational center follows an increase in the demand of students for trade instruction, Mr. Hudson said. A similar survey made of Davids street school not long ago resulted in abandonment of the plan because it was decided the cost of remodeling the building would not give the school system the exact type of trade building it needs.

The possibilities of the State street building are greater in that remodeling would not have to be as extensive and in that it is more centrally located.

If the trade school were established in State street, the vocational department at Harding High school would be abandoned and vocational students would take a half day at Harding in academic subjects and a half day at State street in shop work.

This year several students had to be turned down after they had applied for shop work at Harding. The space where the Harding shop is now located in the basement could be turned over to the printing department which is in need of more room, Mr Hudson said.

The board also approved payment of bills totaling $12,175.47. The total this month was large because of the purchase of textbooks and other supplies for the year. Last year this month's bills amounted to $12,683.

Appointment Approved

The board approved the appointments of Miss Lucile Russell as elementary music teacher and Carl Brickley as physical education instructor at Edison to fill vacancies.

Approval was also granted to the employing of Mrs. Alwyn Crane on a part-time basis to assist Miss Rhea King in operation of the crippled children's school. She will work in a substitute capacity five days a week. The appointment has also been approved by the state department of education which aids in defraying the expenses of the school. The state pays all expenses over and above what it would cost to educate the children normally.

The continuance of the adult trade school at Harding High school in the evenings was also approved by the board which agreed the school is among the most beneficial services of the school system here.

A replacement offer by Frank Bros. store for 291 window shades at Edison school at a cost of $192.50 was also taken under consideration.

Teachers' Meetings

Nov. 5 and 6 were set aside for teachers to attend district educational meetings. Meetings are scheduled both for Dayton and Toledo, and teachers must attend one of the two. School will be dismissed on Friday, Nov. 5, to make it possible for teachers to attend, the board decided.

The board approved the appointment of Miss Vera Stull of St. James street as secretary to Supt. Hudson to replace Miss Frances Sautter who has resigned.

Mr. Hudson also presented a request that the board approve his making tentative arrangements to bring a psychologist from Ohio State university to the city school system next January to assist teachers in remedial work, dealing with unadjusted or problem children. The psychologist is the same who has been working for the past few weeks in the county school system. The schools here pay only the expenses of the expert.

REGISTRATION TOTAL GROWS

Monday Deadline Finds Boards Busy; 200 Listed as Voters and 700 Transfer.

As the deadline for registering for the November election fell last night the board of elections experienced their busiest few hours since the city primary in August. C. G. Rinker, deputy clerk of the board, estimated that from 400 to 450 persons filed transfers and 100 others registered yesterday.

The total of those who have registered since the primary is estimated at slightly more than 200 while transfers number close to 700. The reason for the lightness of the registrations is that the record vote last November made it unnecessary for many people to register to qualify for the coming election.

Yesterday, which marked the beginning of the period during which citizens may vote by absentee ballots, brought in several more applications. The total now is 20.

Names of applicants for absentee ballots are Warren E. and Sarah Ullom of 127 Dix avenue, John H. Biren of 303 Pearl street, David J. Morgan of 220 South Greenwood street, Clarence Austin of 603 Davids street, Charles, Eloise Ira A. and Lucy Schrock, all of 561 Blaine avenue, Margaretine McColly of 240 Hane avenue, Harry H. McColly of 741 North Main street, Mary E. Kelly of 316 North Main street, Clarence E. Bunnert of 138 Garden street, Frank C. # IL DUCE'S SON FIGHTS IN SPAIN

Pilots Bombing Plane as Crack Squadron of 23 Raids Capital at Valencia.

By The Associated Press

ROME, Oct. 5—Fascist aviation circles disclosed today that Bruno Mussolini, 20-year-old son of Premier Benito Mussolini, accompanied by the flower of Italy's bombardment aviation, was in active service as a pilot for the insurgent armies in Spain.

The Italian premier's son and the crack squadron of 23 bombers which accompanied him to Spain was believed to have made their first raid on the capital of the Spanish government at Valencia.

Bruno Mussolini

The squadron is made up of Savoia Marchetti 79-type fast bombers — the best that Italy has — and the pilots include veterans of Marshal Italo Balbo's mass flight to the Chicago Century of Progress and the winners of the recent Paris to Damascus to Paris air race.

The planes took off from Montecello airport near Rome, halted at the island of Sardinia and then went on to Spain to serve in the armies of insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco who is recognized by Mussolini as head of the true government of Spain.

Reports from Sicily indicated that another detachment of Fascist volunteers had left for Spain to aid Franco. This, coupled with the departure of the crack bombing squadron including Il Duce's own son, as taken by diplomatic circles to mean one of two things:

1. Mussolini has determined to make a big effort to settle the Spanish civil war in favor of the insurgents before winter sets in;

2. He has sent in more men in order to be in a better bargaining position with England and France if he finds it expedient to negotiate withdrawal of volunteers.

Il Duce has under consideration a diplomatically-worded Anglo-French note virtually demanding a conference to end volunteer aid to both Spanish factions under threat of having the French frontier opened to arms and munitions for the Valencia government.

Fascist circles in Rome heard reports of a large scale offensive to be unleashed by Franco Oct. 18, an offensive that would be measurably strengthened by the new Italian aid.

PART CANCELLATION OF TAXES PROPOSED

the property and constitute a drag on the real estate market. Prospective builders are loath to buy a lot when they have to pay additional assessments.

Becker proposed that the assessments be revised to represent the extent to which they increased the property market value. This would be done by a committee appointed by the common pleas court.

The counties and municipalities, through bond issues, are required to pay for the assessments, regardless of whether the property owner reimburses them. And the Ohio supreme court has ruled that these bonds must receive first attention.

Numerous cities and counties have refunded their special assessment bond issues. This entails an additional outlay of funds for interest.

While tax delinquent property may be sold by a county or city at foreclosure, tax experts say, purchasers often are scarce because they don't want to pay the heavy assessments.

The law requires that the general property taxes and special assessments must be paid together. A taxpayer can't—without special permission of a court—pay his general taxes and let the assessment payments slide. Therefore, some property owners just don't pay either.

At the close of 1936 county auditors had $94,685,529 in general property tax delinquencies on their books.

Ten counties, headed by Cuyahoga with $45,978,869, each had more than a million dollars worth of delinquent special assessments. Four counties reported no special assessments on their books. They are Lawrence, Pike, Miami and Preble.

Marion County's Total Now $207,332

Marion county's delinquent special assessment charge at the first of this year was $226,409.53, County Auditor Harry V. Mounts reported today. Evidence that the delinquency is being reduced slowly came with the report of the December collection which closed last spring. Mr. Mounts reported at that time that only eight per cent of the delinquency was paid, leaving $207,332.40 unpaid.

In regard to the advisability of Marion county writing off part of its delinquent specials, Mr. Mounts said that such an action is up to the state legislature. He said that under present laws it is impossible for counties to cancel delinquencies.

Delinquencies listed by The Associated Press for nearby counties at the beginning of this year are: Crawford, $57,587; Delaware, $52,744; Hardin, $51,913; Morrow, $18,211; Union, $8,825 and Wyandot, $18,960, all for special assessments.

The Marion county delinquency listed above is for county proper, township, village and Marion city taxpayers.

ROOSEVELT RAPS WARRING NATIONS

treaty engages in the search for peace."

He charged aggressor nations are violating the covenant of the League of Nations, the Kellogg-Briand pact and the nine-power treaty guaranteeing the territorial integrity of China, and of "ignoring" humane instincts.

Another enthusiastic demonstration followed his statement that he was determined to "pursue a policy of peace and to adopt every practicable measure to avoid involvement in war."

Without mentioning any nations by name, it was clear his indictment of aggressors for "definite" violations of agreements embraced the Sino-Japanese conflict, the Mediterranean submarine attacks, outside interference in the Spanish civil war, and possibly went as far back as the Japanese invasion of Manchuria and Italy's Ethiopian campaign.

Cites Start of Invasions

He said the "present reign of terror and international lawlessness" began a few years ago with the "unjustified interference in the internal affairs of other nations or the invasion of alien territory in violation of treaties, and has now reached a stage where the very foundations of civilization are seriously threatened."

Speaking of more recent disorders, he continued: "Without a declaration of war and without warning or justification of any kind civilians, including women and children, are being ruthlessly murdered with bombs from the air.

"In times of so called peace, ships are being attacked and sunk by submarines without cause or notice.

"Nations are fomenting and taking sides in civil warfare in nations that have never done them harm.

Says Freedom Denied

"Nations claiming freedom for themselves deny it to others.

"Innocent peoples and nations are being cruelly sacrificed to a greed for power and supremacy which is devoid of all sense of justice and humane consideration."

The President, near the end of the longest and most significant speech of his current coast-to-coast trip, asserted America was "determined to keep out of war, yet we cannot insure against the disastrous effects of war and the dangers of involvement.

"We are adopting such measures as will minimize our risk of involvement, but we cannot have complete protection in a world of disorder in which confidence and security have broken down."

At another point he said it was his determination to "pursue a policy of peace and to adopt practicable measure to avoid involvement in "war."

Can't Claim Respect

"No nation which refuses to exercise forbearance and to respect the freedom and rights of others can long remain strong and retain the confidence and respect of other nations," he asserted.

For those who have been advocating complete American isolation, the President had this to say:

"There is a solidarity and interdependence about the modern world, both technically and morally, which makes it impossible for any nation completely to isolate itself from economic and political upheavals in the rest of the world especially when such upheavals appear to be spreading and not declining.

"There can be no stability or peace either within nations or between nations except under laws and moral standards adhered to by all. International anarchy destroys every foundation for peace. It jeopardizes either the immediate or the future security of every nation, large or small."

Wants Treaties Upheld

"It is, therefore, a matter of definite interest and concern to the people of the United States that the sanctity of international treaties and the maintenance of international morality be restored."

Tonight at Cleveland President Roosevelt will pause to speak briefly from his private car over a national radio hookup in the New York Herald Tribune forum. Officials said he would not make a public appearance there.

Upon concluding his address at Chicago he arranged to have luncheon at the home of Cardinal Mundelein, Catholic archbishop who has frequently called on the chief executive at the White House and at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Speaking before a huge crowd near his train at St. Paul last night, the President left no doubt that he was going to fight for a wage, hour and child labor bill and a farm surplus regulation measure to take the place of the "cornerstones" he said the supreme court had destroyed.

May Call Extra Session

That he may call a special session in November to hasten action was intimated in an earlier address at Grand Forks, N. D., but officials said he still maintained an "open mind" on this.

"As in the case of farm legislation," he asserted at St. Paul, "a wages and hour and child labor law will undoubtedly accomplish two great purposes, first, an increase in employment, and secondly, an increase in the total of the nation's income."

As a result of both measures, he added, the actual cost of relief should decrease, and "existing taxes—not higher taxes—should make the financial problem of local and state and federal governments more easy."

Perhaps more significant than his reaffirmation of faith in the two pending proposals was his declaration for virtual "uniform" wage standards in all sections of the country and his fresh words of friendship for the farmer-laborites of the north central states.

He said he expected "substantial support" for the minimum wage, maximum hour bill held up the house rules committee last session from the "north, east, west and south."

Many southerners in congress have opposed this measure.

MARION CO. FILES SALES TAX ACTION

alleges as owing to the state is $25,106.70.

The constitutionality of section 5546-20a of the state code is questioned on the following arguments:

That the sections attempt to confer on the state auditor, Joseph M. Ferguson, and State Finance Director M. Ray Allison, the power to determine the amount and validity of claims of Marion county against the state and of claims of the state against the county; power to accept or reject claims; authority to liquidate claims; authority to withhold funds arising from the sales tax.

The county contends that such power is properly judicial and that delegation of it to the auditor and finance director is contrary to Article 4, section 1, of the state constitution. This article gives judicial power to courts. The county contends it is also contrary to Article 3, section 1, which sets up the governor and his cabinet, including the auditor and finance director, as members of the executive branch of the government.

Claim Hearing Denied

The county states that the law denies the county money which is rightfully due it without opportunity to be heard before a court, a procedure contrary to Article 1, section 16, of the state constitution.

The petition states that withholding of the tax will hinder the county in fulfilling contracts entered into when budgets for the various local governments were approved by the county budget commission.

A similar suit has been filed by Franklin county against the state and a temporary injunction has been granted. It is also reported that Muskingum county has taken court action against the state.

ROOSEVELT CAUSES COMMENT IN EUROPE

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Oct. 5—A foreign office spokesman today hailed President Roosevelt's speech in Chicago, in which he pleaded for peace, as marking the "real entry of the great moral force of the United States" into the world's troubled affairs.

"The speech will have tremendous repercussions," the spokesman said. "The full backing of the United States for nations who are working to preserve peace means that they will be greatly strengthened.

"Those responsible for 'the state of international anarchy' will be made to think twice before they commit further depredations."

By The Associated Press

ROME, Oct. 5—Well informed sources said President Roosevelt's reference in his speech today at Chicago to peace loving nations could also apply to Italy.

They called attention to Premier Mussolini's Berlin speech in which Il Duce expressed belief peace would result from his meeting with Chancellor Adolph Hitler.

It was pointed out by these observers that Italy's willingness to further negotiations with Great Britain to settle differences between them was a good indication Italy does not want war.

President Roosevelt's address was not mentioned in the Italian press.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Oct. 5 — Official quarters here were reluctant today to discuss President Roosevelt's Chicago speech calling for universal peace, pending a study of the President's complete text.

On the basis of brief reports on Mr. Roosevelt's statements, the tendency in the Wilhelmstrasse was to assume the President was referring principally to the far eastern situation.

LONDON, Oct. 5 — President Roosevelt's Chicago address calling for concerted action to restore world peace was welcomed as "very significant" in well informed quarters here today.

The foreign office, apart from showing "evident interest" followed its usual custom of refraining from commenting on a speech by the head of a state.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—The state department considered President Roosevelt's Chicago speech today such an important pronouncement of American foreign policy that it made arrangements to cable the full text to all diplomatic and consular establishments abroad.

FELONS ON STRIKE GUARD AUGMENTED

By The Associated Press

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 5—An augmented force of armed guards maintained a vigilant watch on the Statesville prison population today for new manifestations of unrest that sent 1,000 felons on a hunger strike.

Prison officials laid in extra supplies of tear gas bombs and guns. All guards not on duty were ordered to be ready for emergency calls. Prison rules and regulations were tightened as the tension increased.

CHALLENGES BLACK

Constitutionality of the appointment of Justice Hugo L. Black to the U. S. supreme court was challenged at the first 1937-38 session of the court by Albert Levitt, shown above as he left the court building. After announcing the appointment of Black, and stating that he had already taken the oath of office, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes accepted Levitt's petition and said it would be taken under advisement. # REBEL COURT TRIES U. S. FLIER H. E. DAHL

By The Associated Press

SALAMANCA, Spain, Oct. 5—Harold E. Dahl, the Illinois flier who joined the Spanish government air force and was shot down by Spanish insurgents, was court martialled today in the gilded salon of an ancient Moorish palace.

Little more than an hour was required for Dahl to present his story to the military tribunal, contending that he went to Spain as instructor but was forced to fight.

The court withheld judgment until Thursday at 2 p. m. It must forward its verdict to Generalissimo Francisco Franco for approval or clemency.

His thin blond hair carefully combed and wearing new pants and jacket, Dahl entered the courtroom with three Russian aviators who followed him to trial on the same insurgent charge—"rebellion."

The new clothes were brought to him by Mrs. Merito, wife of the defense counsel, and daughter of the Bolivian minister to Paris, and replaced the coveralls he had worn since his capture by insurgents last July.

A telegram from Mrs. Dahl, awaiting decision on her husband's fate in France, came for the captive aviator as the trial began.

"Heart and good wishes of the whole world are with you. Love, Edith," the telegram read.

Col. Federico Acosta and four captains comprised the court, with a Capt. Espinosa acting as prosecutor.

Dahl's story was read—beginning with his going to Mexico where he contends he was promised $1,500 monthly to fly for the Madrid-Valencia government and ending with his capture by insurgents.

Ninety-Four Attend First Session of Institute at Lutheran Church.

Ninety-four men and women attended the first session of the Marion Lutheran Sunday School Teachers' institute last night at the Emanuel Lutheran church. They represented Lutheran churches in Marion, Wyandot, Crawford, Union, Morrow and Hancock counties.

Dr. G. C. Gast of Capital university in Columbus, professor of New Testament, gave the first of two lectures on the Pauline Epistles, covering Galatians, Ephesians and Philippians.

The devotional sermon was delivered by Rev. Paul Dorgerstein of Prospect, chairman of the institute.

Claims of Judaizing teachers that faith in Christ was not sufficient, hinting that Paul who had said it was, was no true Apostle of Christ, prompted Paul to write his letter to the Galatian churches, Dr. Gast said. In his letter to the Galatians he first defends his apostleship and authority and then confirms the churches in this faith in Christ, the lecturer pointed out. Dr. Gast termed it "the most controversial of all the Pauline Epistles," "a doctrinal epistle to be ranked with Romans."

Ephesians was written in quiet meditation, its theme the unity of the church in Christ, its grammatical structure difficult because of long sentences, Dr. Gast said. He explained that Ephesus was the capital of the large and important province of Asia, that it was a commercial center, and that Paul made three missionary journeys there, remaining nearly three years when he went there the last time, and founding a church made up mostly of Gentile converts.

Philippians was written by Paul to thank the congregation at Philippi for gifts sent to him in prison at Rome, Dr. Gast said. In this epistle, he pointed out, Paul informs the congregation about his own condition, tells them that his trial will be soon and that he hopes for release, and explains that he finds no fault with them except a slight tendency to disunion. The letter is preeminently a letter of commendation, one of cordial intimacy and devoted attachment, with joy as its keynote, Dr. Gast said.

"Our Savior's Letter to the Church at Ephesus" was the topic of the devotional service at Bethlehem Lutheran church. For the first time the church heard the Apostles' Creed, re-asserting belief in God as personal Savior and were impressed with communion meditations. Christ called it to repentance, he said.

"Repentance is not a mere regret of sin," he went on, "it is more. It means to hate sin enough to quit it and then to practice the opposite virtues. This is what the Lord demanded of the Ephesian congregation near the end of the first century.

"The Lord also calls upon a large part of so-called Christendom today that it repent and cast aside the fundamentals it has. He asks for faith in Him as personal Savior from sin and death.

"He asks also the Christian pastor, the Sunday school teacher, the Christian layman to examine himself as to his spiritual condition to see whether or not in him there is still the first love of Him, His Word and His people. And if lacking in this he is asked to repent and to do the first works."

Next Monday night Dr. Gast will discuss Colossians, and First and Second Thessalonians.

Marion County Dog Warden Makes Unusual Record in 2 Years At Post

As he nears the end of his second year as dog warden of Marion county, Elmer Ullom of Fairground street has already broken the all-time record for dog licenses which was set last year and is continuing his campaign against sheep killing that was a result of his work in that office. As a result commissioners have received numerous compliments from officials of other counties.

Here is Mr. Ullom's record in brief:

1. Since coming into office on July 1, 1935, he has increased annual dog tax sales 85 per cent from 3,018 in 1934 to an estimated 5,600 for this year. The total is already more than 5,000.

2. The number of sheep and other farm animals killed or wounded by dogs has gone down 36 per cent from 693 in 1934 to 441 last year and an even smaller number this year, according to present figures.

3. The amount of money paid out by the county in claims from farmers has dropped 30 per cent from $3,434.25 in 1934 to $2,273.10 last year. This year the claims are expected to be smaller than last year.

4. Money accruing to the county from the sale of tags, of impounded dogs and from fines against dog license law violators has increased 62 per cent from $4,010 in 1934 to and estimated $6,500 for this year.

Typical of Mr. Ullom's vigilance in behalf of the county is the capture of five sheep killing dogs within 36 hours this week. The dogs are believed to have caused more than $150 damage to sheep flocks in recent weeks.

Caught in Flock

The first two were shot about midnight Monday about two miles west of Marion on the Green Camp pike by Mr. Ullom and a posse including Ora Hensel, James Lee, Clyde Beaver, Hobart Messenger and Roy Smith. They were caught in the flocks of Isaac Snyder and were killed as they attempted to escape after killing two sheep valued at $14.

Two others were caught on the J. D. Beers farm on the Marion-Crawford county line road Tuesday after they destroyed $52 worth of sheep. They had been in the flock three times before they were captured. The fifth dog was caught Wednesday on the W. V. Metz farm near Agosta where it had killed two lambs. The claim was settled by the owner of the dog.

Despite the fact that in carrying out his duties, Mr. Ullom impounds more than 700 dogs a year he is a confirmed dog lover. His own pet dog, a Boston bull, which he has had for two years bears evidence to that by his almost constant presence wherever Mr. Ullom goes.

Although he is bitten occassionally in attempting to capture dogs, Mr. Ullom has no fear of them. He is cautious in approaching them, however. He carries the proverbial dog catchers' net in his truck but rarely uses it, preferring to catch the dogs with his hands. For a while during his first few months he used a special snare which he had devised, but has abandoned it also.

Builds New Pound

At his new home on Fairground street to which he is moving this week, Mr. Ullom is constructing a new kennel for dogs which he catches. After catching a dog he is required by law to keep them for a period of three days and post a notice of the capture on the bulletin board at the courthouse to give the owner, if any, an opportunity to recover the dog.

Frequently Mr. Ullom captures dogs which are purchased for hunting or for pets by dog lovers, but generally his catch includes mostly mongrels, he says. The sale price of the dogs goes to the county.

After the three days, if no one has claimed the dog, it must be killed. Generally Mr. Ullom uses an unusual but humanitarian way of putting an end to their lives which otherwise would be miserable affairs leading from one garbage can to another. County officials have approved the method as cheaper and more humane than the usual method of shooting.

It involves the use of a closed chamber and Mr. Ullom's truck. The exhaust is connected to the closed chamber in which the dog is placed and in a minute or two the animal is unconscious and is dead in a short while. No discomfort is felt by the animals which merely fall asleep, Mr. Ullom said.

Probably the chief reason why Mr. Ullom has been so successful, county officials said, is the amount of time he spends on his job. This week for example, he spent an average of about 12 hours a day investigating claims, rounding up stray dogs and stalking down the five known sheep killers.

On an average day he receives some 25 telephone calls from residents throughout the county asking various things. Likely as not, Mr. Ullom said, the request will be to stop the barking of some neighbor's dog or to chase a dog out of a flower or vegetable garden. His chief duties, however, are to investigate the claims of farmers for damages to their sheep flocks and to see that every dog in the county has a license.

Tag Prices at Minimum

One result of his work has been the reduction of the price of dog licenses to the lowest point permissable under state laws. The cost is $1 for a male or spayed female, $3 for females and $10 for kennels. In many other counties, Morrow in particular, license fees are far greater, county officials said, as a result of the preponderance of claims over receipts.

In Hardin county this week the commissioners took steps to cut down their increasing sheep bill and ordered Warden R. G. Fitzpatrick to arrest all owners whose dogs are permitted to run at large at night. In the three months just ended claims amounted to $832.

By comparison in the last 10 weeks in Marion county claims were less than $150.

Another result of the building up the dog and kennel fund made it possible last year for a contribution of $1,000 to the Marion County Humane society. Another contribution probably will be possible this year. The contribution had not been made for several years past. Other expenses from the fund are Mr. Ullom's salary of $1,500 annually, witness fees in trials and payment of kennel care of impounded dogs.

The worst offenders in the killing of sheep are police dogs, Mr. Ullom's records show. One police dog and a bulldog early this year destroyed between $1,000 and $1,200 worth of sheep in the eastern and southeastern part of the county before they were captured.

Mr. Ullom came into office July 1, 1935, and holds his position inder state civil service laws. He was appointed from three highest scorers in an examination which more than 125 persons took. Before 1925 the county had no dog warden.

Mr. Ullom was engaged in farming east of Marion on Russell pike before becoming dog warden. His new home is just outside the city limits on East Fairground street.

In Ohio History

(From the J. H. Galbraith collection of Ohio histories, written for The Associated Press.)

OHIO'S HEART RANG TRUE

The Civil war had been in progress almost a year and the reverses suffered by the Union caused great discouragement, but the people of Ohio felt none of it.

Ohio opinion was expressed through a joint resolution adopted by the legislature. It said "—that the government could make no peace save on the basis of absolute submission to the supremacy of the Constitution . . ." The legislature also declared that they would approve the execution of the rebelious leaders.

There were no such executions. Even Jefferson Davis, the head of the Confederacy, was set at liberty after being held prisoner for a time.

MARION PHYSICIANS TO HEAR LECTURES

Many physicians from northwestern Ohio, including Marion, Hardin and Wyandot counties, are expected to attend the series of Ohio State Medical association postgraduate lectures, beginning Oct. 21 at Findlay. The courses are sponsored by the association for the benefit of the members and are designed to give them a review in practically every phase of medicine.

This year's is the first of a five-year series. All sessions will be held at two-week intervals on Thursday evenings.

Among the members of the regional committee on arrangements is Dr. R. G. Mellenry of Marion, secretary of the Marion Academy of Medicine.

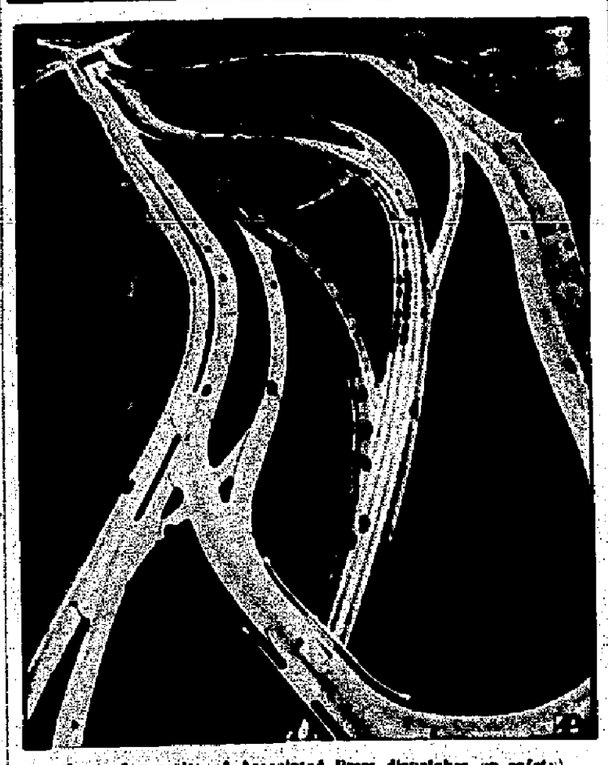
America Plays Safe!

N. Y. Cuts Death Toll With Highway Pretzels



(Last of a series of Associated Press dispatches on safety)

NEW YORK—"Pretzels" have cut down the crossing-crash toll on the maze of highways around New York City. Not real pretzels, of course, but welters of crossover roads, like this one on the Long Island parkway system. This is the most complicated of several that have been built near the city in the last few years.

Such systems amount to switches. Cars are routed by signs to lane that lead to intersecting roads. These lanes pass over or under main highways and take the car out on different roads so that a driver never has to face the hazard of cross-currents of traffic.

Safety Workers Use Cajolery and Clubs

Psychology and punishment are both being used throughout America in the campaign to end reckless driving. Local conditions often dictate the course police adopt.

In Atlanta, the effort has centered on preventing deaths. When someone has been killed by a car a black flag is hoisted at a downtown intersection. There it flies for 24 hours as a reminder to all. If there are no accidents, a white flag bearing a green cross is hoisted in thankfulness.

In Louisville everyone knows —and fears—the phrase "nine and nineteen." That's Police Judge John Brachey's unappealable sentence for drunken drivers — nine days and $19. The judge finds it works.

New Orleans is attacking the hazard of careless early morning drivers with its Dawn Patrol, a special squad of motorcycle cops that rounds up motorists who try to take advantage of nearly empty streets.

A safety car—police operated but unmarked—cruises Washington, D. C., and bags many a traffic law violator. Suspension or revocation of driving permits follows arrests, so Washington's accident record is declining. A Citizen's Safety Committee has been formed to educate drivers.

FORMER LOCAL MAN KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Edward Border Dies as Car and Truck Collide.

A former Marion county resident, Edward Border, 69 of near Beach City, in the vicinity of Canton, was killed instantly Sunday when he was crushed beneath his automobile which overturned in a collision with a coal truck in Stark county.

Mr. Border is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Rachel Cocherl of North Greenwood street, Mrs. Cal Hull and Harmon Fox, both of near Prospect. He lived in Marion county 10 years, leaving about 20 years ago. While in this county he operated a farm for a number of years and prior to that was a carpenter in the city.

A number of relatives from Marion county will attend funeral services Wednesday afternoon at Beach City. Burial will be made there.

FATHER OF MARION RESIDENT IS DEAD

Allan Graham, 83, Dies at Home in Lima.

Allan Graham, 83, father of Mrs. Joseph M. Justice of 130 Merchant avenue, died at 8:10 a. m. today at the home of a daughter, Mrs. F. L. German of Lima. He had been in failing health several years.

Mr. Graham was widely known among Masons in Marion and nearby communities, frequently having attended lodge sessions throughout this vicinity. He formerly lived at Ottawa and was postmaster there many years.

Mrs. Justice has been at the German home for the last two weeks. Mr. Justice and their two sons expected to join her today. Mr. Justice is common pleas court bailiff here.

Besides the two daughters, Mr. Graham is survived by a son, A. H. Graham of Cleveland.

GOOD POTATO YIELD

Ed Klingel Raises 503 Bushels On Acre Near Waldo.

A potato yield, believed to be near a record for this section of the state, was reported today by Ed Klingel of about eight miles southeast of Marion on Route 98. On an acre patch of land on his farm he gathered a total of 503 bushels of the vegetable.

He used a commercial fertilizer on the crop and did considerable cultivation in order to achieve the huge yield, he said. A good yield in Marion county is from 200 to 300 bushels an acre.

New Books On Shelves At City Library As Period of Winter Evenings Nears

With the arrival of fall and promise of long winter evenings to the offing, librarians at the Marion public library are stocking the shelves with new books of fiction, non-fiction, biographies, travel classics and vocational guidance in anticipation of the season's annual increase in circulation.

Both the adult and juvenile departments offer an interesting list of new books, and always there are the perennial favorites, some boasting new jackets, to be read and reread.

New volumes listed for adult readers are "Outward Room," Brand, "American Dream," Forster, "The Book of Birds" Grenfell, "Doctor & Alexander," "Joan Carstairs" Walpole, "Bulwark of the Republic" Hendrick, "Three Die at Midnight" Hunter, "Miracle of England," Maurois, "Sisters Over Eden," Miller, "Wind From the Mountains," Gallowhurst, "High Speed Diesel Engines" Morrison, "In the Steps of St. Paul," Morton, "The Citadel," Cronin, "Best Short Stories of 1937" O'Brien, and "T. E. Lawrence" by his friends.

Story of Life In City

"The Outward Room" is the story of Harriet Dermuth, a girl in her early twenties who has been imprisoned for seven years in a hospital for the insane, her mind being unhinged by the death of her brother in a motor accident. She has intervals of normalcy and her doctor believes she can be cured. Through the accident of an unlocked door she leaves the hospital and her wanderings take her to New York where she meets a young magazine photographer named John. The acquaintance ripens into love set in a background of life as lived by the poor of a great city.

"American Dream" has life, color, interest and meaning. At the opening of the story Shelby Thing, star of the "Voice of Seven" pages, is rescued to check it for a printing venture of his own. The finding of some old letters provide material for the story called by some reviewers as an American story-of-the-generation.

A. J. Cronin has drawn on his experiences in the study and the practice of medicine for the theme in his fourth novel, "The Citadel." The story is of an intelligent hard-headed young physician, his life as a physician in the mining community of South Wales, and his encounters and disillusionments with men of his profession.

The Maurois book "The Miracle of England" is an up-to-the-minute story of that country, and includes the abdication of Edward VIII. In a letter to us American publishers the author explains that the title refers to the astonishing fact that this small island invented new institutions and a new form of freedom, "the only new form of human society since the Greeks."

Short Story Volume.

Among the authors represented in the O'Brien volume are Jesse Stuart, Leane Zugsmith, Katherine Anne Porter, Charles Cocke, Elma Godchaux, Paul Horgan, Edward Harris Heth, Lovell Thompson and 21 others.

George Bernard Shaw and Winston Churchill and men who worked with T. E. Lawrence in the grimy depths of tanks, paint a brilliant picture of him in the volume "They Knew Lawrence." Of the new light on Lawrence, of a new theory to account for the enigma of his psychology, there is little, but of new evidence there is a wealth.

The central person of Morton's, "In the Steps of St. Paul," is Paul of Tarsus. There are pages of illustrations and maps, following the travels of the man. Morton is the author of the "Search" books, "In the Steps of the Master," and several others.

Most timely is the Hendrick volume, "Bulwark of the Republic," a biography of the Constitution. The opening scene is laid at Mount Vernon where the commissioners from Maryland and Virginia met to squabble over the water rights of the Potomac. Step by step is build up the historical drama, depicting the crisis which have threatened the Constitution from 1787 until today. The Walpole continuation begins in 1884, with the birth of John Cornelius in a Gloucshire cottage and ends in 1931 with the death that followed his final unexpected triumphs. In between is the rich variety of social and literary English. Helen Topping Miller, author of "Whispering River," "Let Me Die Tuesday," etc., has written a story of the two Magill sisters from a small Alabama town; Ann, a spoiled, selfish individual, and Barby, who rebelled against life of a southern lady of fashion. Other equally interesting characters help make up the plot of this exciting novel.

The Gulbransen book is a sequel to "Beyond Sing the Woods," and the "Book of Birds" is the first work presenting in full color all the major species of the United States and Canada with 950 color portraits.

"The Story of English Life" for older boys and girls is fascinating history, the Flaherty book a story of radio as it stands today, the rubber book, a new photographic picture book depicting important industries for children, and "Long Live the King," a picture and story book of the kings and queens of English history.

DEMOCRATIC SUPPER AND RALLY PLANNED

Campaign Activities Discussed at Meeting in Party Headquarters.

Plans for a Democratic rally and cafeteria supper in which the club and the women's organization of the party will join were discussed at a meeting of the Marion County Democratic club in party headquarters last night.

The rally will be held late this month and will climax the party's campaign activities for the municipal election in November.

Last night's meeting was the first of a series of weekly sessions to be held by the club prior to the election, Herbert R. Krebs, president, said.

Forest Smith of the Baker Wood Preserving Co. former secretary of the Democratic executive committee of Fayette county where he formerly lived, was the speaker. He reviewed the national and state Democratic administrations and devoted part of his talk to an explanation of party organization methods used in Fayette county.

Candidates for city offices were introduced. Misses Mary Bramhall and Donna Kelley sang a vocal duet, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Haberman. Misses Maxine Schlagenhauf and Delores Jams played a saxophone duet, also accompanied by Miss Haberman. Eighty persons attended the meeting. Refreshments were served.

Reports of fruit trees doing double duty and blooming twice this summer continue to be heard from numerous points in this district. The tree is young and bore heavily earlier this summer, she reports. In addition to the blossoms it is also sprouting new leaves.

EASEMENT VOTED FOR STATE HIGHWAY

County commissioners yesterday passed a resolution agreeing to extend to the state highway department free easements for a 50-foot right of way for a two and a half mile section of the Bucyrus-Iberia road in Marion county for transfer of the section to the state. The road cuts across the northeastern part of the county.

It is reported that Crawford and Morrow county have already obtained easements for their 50-foot right of way and that the Marion county section is the only part remaining, delaying transfer of the road to the state highway system.

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madre Is Puzzled by Trend of Dicky's Conversation.

DICKY'S query was apparently an idle one, but I am so accustomed to his varying nuances of speech that I knew there was something more than raillery in his asking me if I were going to be good to him if he got into trouble.

Involuntarily my mind flew back to Edith Fairlie's insulting letter with its reference to Dicky's being in a "jam." I also remembered my husband's unromantic references to my "being at hand" if he needed me, voiced when he approved my determination to accept Philip Ventnor's invitation to share Mary's apartment during the rehearsals for my play.

I made my reply as bantering as his question, but tried to let him hear an undertone of earnestness to match his.

"A true wife always stands by her husband in any trouble," I intoned solemnly, then added smugly: "I trust I am no exception to the rule, and will acquit myself properly if the occasion should arise."

Dicky Relieved?

Dicky laughed joyously, but I thought I detected a note of relief in the laughter.

"I know I can count on you," he said, and it was as if he were buoying himself up with the promise.

"But I mean it about Mary," he went on. "This is a wonderful thing you are doing for her. Does she know it yet?"

"Yes. We told her before we left the hospital."

"What was her reaction?"

"She was delighted, relieved, reconciled to being away from Noel during rehearsals—and exceedingly grateful."

Strange Request

"She ought to be all of those things, and especially the last," he commented. "By the way," Dicky added with a carelessness that I guessed was purposeful, "d'ye suppose you could rig up a cot or a divan or something in that apartment so if I wanted a night's lodging you could give it to me?"

"I see no reason why we couldn't make such an arrangement," I said with equal carelessness, but wondering at the request, for I knew that Dicky had comfortable sleeping quarters at his studio whenever he wanted to use them.

"Of course, I'll probably never use the cot," he said. "I'll bunk at the studio, as per usual, when I'm in town, but — one never knows — I might be in need of sanctuary myself for a few hours. Would you give it to me?"

"Need you ask, silly boy?" I countered.

Reason For Advice?

"No I know I can count on you," he said earnestly. "D'ye mind if I give you a piece of advice?"

"On the contrary, I'd love it," I said.

"Then, don't tell anybody outside the family the address of Mary's apartment; be careful they don't mention it and ask old Paul to keep it dark also. That ought to fit in with her ideas, and it's better all around."

I could not banish the thought which sprang into my mind at Dicky's words. Was there some reason for his own for that advice? But, of course, I could not voice it. Instead, I said quietly:

"I think that's very good counsel, and I shall follow it."

"I don't think you'll regret it," he said. "But you haven't told me a most important detail of this scheme. Who's going to tell my mother and your father of your plan? Not that your father will be difficult, but you're likely to have a job on your hands with the matter. Unless, if you tell her you are keeping Olina away from Mary, she'll be tractable. But is that wise?"

Madge Has Plan

"I don't think so," I answered. "It would prejudice her against Olina, and that wouldn't make for harmony in the household. But I think I shall be able to manage her. I have a plan. Would you like to hear it?"

"If you don't tell it to me immediately, I shall smack you down," he said, grinning. I nestled closer to him.

"I was just going to tell you anyway," I said, laughing.

"Maybe so, maybe so," he chuckled, "but a good threat never goes amiss with a female critter."

"Just for that!" I threatened, moving away from him with an echoing chuckle, but his arm was like iron as he drew me back again.

"I'll can the comedy if you will," he said, suddenly serious. "Tell me your plan for breaking the news to Mother without danger of an explosion."

An Honor for Marion.

MARION extends a cordial and appreciative welcome to the Ohio division of the King's Daughters as the forty-fourth annual convention of the organization opens here today.

The welcome is referred to as appreciative because it is a unfortunate honor for a city to be chosen as the meeting place of the King's Daughters, who are outstanding in religious, charitable and welfare work.

Although the nature and extent of the fine service performed by the organization is generally known, the meeting here will give people in Marion and nearby communities a more complete and comprehensive understanding of all that has been accomplished and is planned for the future. That will be beneficial, for the subject is one about which Marion and its neighbors should be fully informed. In this city and others throughout Central Ohio, King's Daughters circles have been numerous and active over a long period of years, giving the locality an outstanding place in the records of the state branch.

Contributing to interest in the organization in this area is the fact that Maplecrest, a home for girls maintained by the state branch, is situated at Bucyrus, only 18 miles north of Marion. This fine home, established and operated as one of the major activities of the King's Daughters of Ohio, typifies the beneficence of the Order's entire range of purpose and accomplishment.

Marion people have happy recollections of a previous meeting of the King's Daughters of Ohio, held here just 10 years ago. We have reason to believe that memories of that event are also pleasing to those who were our guests at that time, for otherwise this return visit might not have been likely. It is the sincere hope of all Marion residents that this 1937 visit will be equally enjoyable and that it will mean another opportunity for this city to be favored as a convention choice before the lapse of many years.

Once Is Enough.

THE PRINCIPAL topic of conversation over the week-end was, of course, Justice Black's speech last Friday night.

The upshot of a vast deal of discussion probably is something like this: That Mr. Black made the most of a sad case, but that the case was too tough to be won in the first place.

Another conclusion is common. It is that the controversy stirred up by Mr. Black's appointment will cause future court appointees to be examined microscopically. Hereafter, the executive and the senate will want to know everything.

This may be the silver lining in the cloud. President Roosevelt acted in haste when he appointed Mr. Black.

The President was right in assuming the senate would accept Mr. Black. It used to be considerate of the feelings of a member by drumming over the question of his alien connection. That was a risky thing to do. Mr. Roosevelt's hasty appointment was risky. The present controversy, which has reached such proportions that Mr. Black, himself, finally engaged in it, proves it was risky and shouldn't be repeated.

The Wide, Open Spaces.

THIS WEEK THE New York Yankees and the New York Giants will begin the world series for the baseball championship of the universe. It is, as everyone knows, the greatest drawing card in professional sport.

There's just one thing wrong with it. In New York City, where all the games are to be staged, there's a tendency to think that buffalo runs and antelope play west of New Jersey. The reverse side of the picture is the equally absurb idea, held by many millions living west of New Jersey, that New York City is some how apart from the "wide, open spaces where the people live."

What major league baseball needs—to come to the point—is a world series in Cincinnati, or Cleveland, or Pittsburgh. It's beginning to look as though New York were not only the nation's capital in matters of finance business, publishing and so forth, but in big league ball too—and that's bad for the "national" game.

The Cup and The Glory.

THE AMERICA'S CUP, that immensely silly trinket for which millionaire yachtsmen strive in the cutest contests imaginable, is locked safely away in a vault some where. It represents the supremacy of American yacht designing.

Ironically, the glory that should go with the cup seems to have flown elsewhere—to the captain and crew of Endeavour I, the English boat which was not good enough to compete in this year's race.

For it was Endeavour I which, losing its spar on the return voyage to England, sailed 2,707 miles through extremely dirty weather to reach Gosport harbor safely. Maybe American sailormen could have done it just as well, but all they do the glory of ratching a 1937 pennant to the British.

Today in Washington

The Justice Black Incident Pertains to Ku Klux Klan Is Far from Dead Issue in U. S. Politics.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—What a person—private citizen or man and administrative assistant today—all what can and should know and master is the mighty task in America is not a question of what kind of justice I want on the supreme court. It is a question relating to freedom of religion. Or is it all matter of administration of some kind of the Department of Justice or the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the F.B.I. can be relied upon to protect citizens of conscience?

It is the part of wise statesmanship to recognize instantly cases that affect all people in the United States who believe that no Christian church or sect can be "dominated" by the United States and that no news or inquiries or acts of foreign powers should be allowed to affect the practice of religion.

There is a good deal of opportunity about for error. It is not a pro or anti-Roosevelt or a pro or anti-new deal matter. Some of the same people who are opposed to the confirmation of Hugo Black as the head of the supreme court because he admitted he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan were privately asked some weeks a few months ago, we're privately dear among Mr. Roosevelt because he said a number of Jews in his administration.

For several months there has been an anti-Semitic propaganda circulated by a group who have been accusing President Roosevelt of undue friendliness to Jews. Literature were sent over a propaganda denouncing Mr. Roosevelt because he gave a Cabinet, Postmaster General, Farley, so much power in the administration.

There are some people who to this day, insist that a Catholic elected to high office would take orders from the Pope and would owe allegiance to a higher authority than our government. Such nonsense is widely believed in the country districts in America and unfortunately in some city districts, too, where this propaganda of religious intolerance is cultivated.

Grievous Error

President Roosevelt made a grievous error in nominating Hugo Black to the bench, but it was an error of judgment and not in any way a sanction on his part even remotely of the motives and purposes of the Ku Klux Klan. It is true the President knew about the Klan charge when the Black nomination was being debated. There was the time for him to have looked into it and to have withdrawn the nomination, or at least to have permitted his lieutenants in the senate to let the matter pass without fight for an inquiry of the senate judiciary committee.

But Mr. Roosevelt thought the Klan a dead issue. He probably felt he could not withhold from the Klan a fair trial. Mr. Roosevelt was so close to the right way and was so convinced of his own ability to win the support of the senate that he was surprised at the result. For there exists in the President a core of stern and simple character that goes to the bottom of any issue. He cannot be the party to put the Ku Klux Klan in the hands of the party. Such a misconception will, of the confidence of the public.

But to say that the President would have allowed Mr. Black to be confirmed if he had withdrawn or refused the question of his connection with the Klan is to misjudge the President's character. Mr. Roosevelt would have made a try to ignore Mr. Black's confession of membership and would have made a try to ignore Mr. Roosevelt's record. It was he who stood up for Al Smith in 1924 and 1928 when the same Klan forces were trying to prevent a Catholic from becoming President of the United States.

This problem of discrimination against racial and religious groups is not a pleasant one to discuss, for it confuses the impression of much misunderstanding. But discrimination does exist in American politics, particularly in the future construction of the Constitution, which bars such as religious test shall ever be required for public office.

The Democratic party has the distinction of being the first to write into a Catholic for the presidency, but it also has the distressful record that several states in the south broke the Democratic ticket for the first time when Al Smith was nominated in 1928. The prejudice was present in the north, too, where millions of Democrats pulled the ticket when an issue was made of a Catholic. Some commentators say that the

MORRAL PROGRAM SET FOR OCT. 26

Morral schools' new auditorium-gymnasium recently completed will be dedicated Oct. 26, V. L. Anderson, superintendent of the Morral school, said today. Through misinformation, the date was erroneously listed as Oct. 6 in a recent issue of The Star. E. N. Deitrich, state director of education, will give the principal address.

LAWRENCE WRITES ON CAPITAL SITUATION

which make it a point never to admit a Catholic or a Jew, no matter how well they may meet all the qualifications including the element of individual compatibility. So long as things of this kind exist in free America, the Black episode will have a very grave importance.

Today, millions of persons who were not of voting age a dozen years ago have learned that the Ku Klux Klan existed for the purpose of preventing Catholics, Jews and Negroes and foreign born from holding office. Mothers of new-born babes know that, if the Ku Klux Klan spirit prevails, their sons may never aspire to the presidency of the United States. And in many an instance a mother feels that, whether or not her son may ever attain such a high office, at least he has an equal opportunity with any other American-born child.

The Klan issue is not dead in American politics and probably never will be till it is thoroughly exposed to the healthy air of discussion and until intelligent public opinion thoroughly disposes of the argument that public office or business or professional success in America belongs to any single groups above any other group. For discrimination of a racial or religious character which openly refuses to employ persons or certain religions or races is not so insignificant as it might appear on the surface. In this sense, the appointment of Hugo Black, the disclosure that he was a Klan member, and the controversy now raging about his continuance on the bench is likely to do more good than all the newspaper articles that were written at the time the Klan membership drive was at its height.

MANSFIELD YEGGS GET STORE FUNDS

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 5—Methodical yeggs who apparently labored for several hours were rewarded with "several thousand dollars" in loot from the Sears, Roebuck & Co. store here yesterday.

Police said the robbers sawed bars from a window, rolled the 1,000-pound safe down a flight of stairs, started a conveyor which moved it to a loading platform, and drove off in a truck.

The blown safe was found seven miles north of the city on a rural school ground. Police said it had been emptied of checks and several thousand dollars in cash.

HEART REST AT 25, PHYSICIAN REPORTS

By International News Service

LONDON — The heart and circulation do not attain their greatest efficiency until about the 25th year, Dr. Crighton Bramwell, who has made a close study of the physical state of Olympic games champions and other athletes, declares.

In searching for the reason why young men are less capable than their seniors of enduring severe and prolonged physical exertion, and why their pulse rate is higher, Dr. Bramwell counted pulses in 2,521 normal subjects. He found slowest rates at about 25. Before this time the more rapid rates, he claims, mean that the heart has less reserve when some prolonged exertion is required.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION ELECTS REV. HENRY MAAG

Prospect Street M. E. Church Pastor Heads Marion County Group.

Rev. Henry Maag, pastor of the Prospect Street M. E. church and of the Bethlehem and Zion M. E. churches south of Marion, was elected president of the Marion County Ministerial association at the first meeting of the 1937-38 year held yesterday morning at the City library.

Dr. Harry L. Bell, pastor of the Central Christian church, was elected vice president and Rev. H. B. Twining of the Emmanuel Baptist church was elected secretary-treasurer.

Following talks by Charles E. Turner of Columbus and W. A. Morrison of Delaware, representing the Ohio Federation of Men's Bible classes, the association voted to extend the federation an invitation to hold its annual meeting next October in Marion.

The invitation will be extended at the federation's eighth annual meeting Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Williams Street M. E. church in Delaware.

Mr. Turner explained that the federation objectives are to assist in creating more efficient classes and to assist the pastors. Mr. Morrison who is chairman of arrangements for the Delaware convention, also spoke on the program of the federation and invited the ministers to attend the convention.

Several thousand visitors are expected to attend the various sessions of the convention. The visit to Marion yesterday was one of many which "flying squadrons" of laymen of the Delaware County Brotherhood are making this week to Marion, Union, Morrow and Richland counties.

Rev. E. A. Lehman of St. Paul's

REV. HENRY MAAG.

English Lutheran church, retiring president of the ministerial association, gave a brief talk expressing his appreciation for the cooperation given him during his term of office and Rev. Maag asked that the same cooperation be afforded him in the coming year.

100 BIKE OWNERS RECORDED BY POLICE

Boys, Girls Cooperate With Officials in New Anti-Theft Move.

More than 100 Marion bicycle owners had registered their wheels at the police department up to noon today as they cooperated with officers in efforts being made to halt a recent increase in the number of cycle thefts. The cyclists, mostly young boys and girls, voluntarily called at the police department to take advantage of the registration service inaugurated this week.

A cycle registration blank carries the vehicles serial number, owner's name and address, color and size of bicycle and the designation of whether it is a boy's or girl's model. The registrations are being cross-indexed so that a vehicle can be located either through its serial number or the name of the owner.

By the cross-index officers will be able to locate the serial number of a bicycle which is reported stolen and have a definite means of positively identifying it. Likewise they will be able to locate the owner of a recovered bicycle by checking the serial number and registration. Bicycle owners are urged to register their wheels and are invited to call at the police office at their own convenience. There is no charge for the registration.

DR. CARL W. SAWYER was a guest speaker when the Woman's club opened the 1937-38 season yesterday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. Frederick Hoch west of the city. His subject was "Health and Your Doctor." Mrs. Sawyer reported on the state convention held last spring following the close of the club season. Following the program hour tea was served.

ONE of the first clubs to open the dance season is the newly-organized Monday Night Dancing club whose members danced last evening at Schwinger's hall. Twenty-five couples attended and the program was played by Mrs. Webster's orchestra. On Nov. 1 the members will hold a "hard time" dance. Officers of the club are Ralph Grogg, president, and Lester Alexander, secretary and treasurer.

The Elks Women's club will have a dessert bridge party Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Elks club. The committee in charge is composed of Mrs. E. E. Smith, chairman, Mrs. Thomas Thompson and Mrs. G. E. Darnell.

The president's tea, annual opening affair of the Research club, was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter A. Dorsey of South Vine street. Greetings by Mrs. Dorsey preceded a business session and roll call on the subject, "Something Interesting I Saw or Heard During the Summer."

Mrs. Edson L. Bush gave a talk on naturalization laws and in the absence of Mrs. Carl J. Watrous a questionnaire and discussion on the U. S. Constitution was conducted by Mrs. C. J. Bever.

Mrs. Bever will entertain the club Oct. 18 at her home on East Center street.

A tea yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. L. Jolley of 308 South High street opened the season of the Sesame club. Autumn flowers lent a colorful note to the rooms.

Mrs. E. C. Garver, president, opened the meeting with a short talk on the work planned for the year. Mrs. E. A. Schultz was appointed historian and Mrs. Ray Lill was appointed patroness chairman. Mrs. Garver was elected delegate to the district convention Oct. 7-8 at Zanesville.

"See America First" was the program hour theme. Mrs. A. C. Thompson read a paper, "The Arm Chair Travelers." Three other papers were read, "America as God Made It," by Mrs. A. C. Brown, "Coulee Dam," by Mrs. Schultz and "Tangier Island," by Mrs. Lill. Current events by Mrs. E. E. Thomas closed the program.

Mrs. Garver presided at the tea table during the social hour.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 18 at the home of Mrs. Brown, of near Agosta.

Summer experiences were told in response to roll call when the Delphian club opened its season yesterday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. H. L. Brobeck of Sugar street.

A memorial service was conducted for Mrs. Frank Jeffers, a member who died during the summer.

"Well! must say, he has more nerve than you, David." She scrubbed at herself with a handkerchief "Tell me about him. And why do you call him Beagle" He's awfully large for a beagle, isn't he? And even if he were, you don't call a horse, horse"

"Don't you" I do. In fact, I call a spade a spade. But I only found him this afternoon, no collar, or anything, and frightfully hungry. Suggest a name, then"

Nina regarded the hound thoughtfully

"Well, he has little brown spots on him, like buttons Why not 'Button". 'Button, the beagle' That's cunning"

"It's stupendous. Button he is"

David's Confession

Nina looked at David's nice clean-cut profile The street lamp shone on big uncovered hair, and David gasped: "Nina!" and she ran up the steps.

she saw that it really was copper—not red at all and straighter than you would have expected that color to be just a suggestion of a wave His eyes were brown like her own, and clear and honest-looking

She sighed

"I really must go in. Spill it David."

"O K Well, as I have no intention of going out of your life, I may as well be frank. I'm a fake and a phony. not to say a heel. I crashed that party tonight"

Nina raised her eyebrows

"No!" she breathed. "Why, I hadn't the faintest suspicion"

"I was transacting a little business with a man at the Ritz—saw the festivities—and popped in And that brings me to the next thing: this isn't my car, at all, Nina. It's a demonstrator I'm an automobile salesman."

Nina didn't bat an eye

"Are you a successful one?"

"Not very."

"Are you trying to sell me this little number?" She remembered his paean of praise.

"No . But it's an idea"

She said: 'Come round for a cocktail, tomorrow"

And he gasped: "Nina!" and grinned, she ran up the steps.

Funny David She let herself in.

The Stafford house, on 74th street between Madison and Park, was an old-fashioned one, with a high stoop that made you feel sort of naked and shivery as you stood up there, waiting for the maid to let you in.

Inside it was as it had always been: a front living-room, and a back dining-room, with fireplaces in each, and a library on the second floor Even the sliding doors were there, on little steel tracks; but there were no rubber plants, or statuary, or heavy velvet hangings on fat brass rods. They were lovely rooms Queen Anne-ish. Polished floors and antique walnut pieces of rare beauty. In the high-ceilinged parlor, two chintz-covered love seats came out at right angles from the fireplace, giving a comfortable feeling to the quiet, dignified old room

Nina liked it better than the library, where Honey kept adding things, a china cat on a taffeta cushion, numerous eccentric blown-glass figures, cacti, "just one more teeny little coffee table" till it looked like a Madison avenue store window. It was Honey's room, and Nina loved it for that reason, but it made her sort of breathless.

As she came in, tonight, every light in the house was burning. Well, that was like Honey, too She looked on the hall table for a note saying "Come in and see me or I'll never speak to you again as long as I live" . or something like that But there was none Instead there was a feeling in the air of hushed expectancy like a surprise party, with people waiting behind portieres to pop out at you.

Nina stood still and sniffed

Something Of a Shock

Presently, Honey's voice sang out from above.

"Is that you, Nina" . Oh, hurry, darling Come up quickly I've the most marvelous thing to show you. I brought it back from Chicago"

"Something more for the library?"

'No, sweet . a new husband!"

'My God Honey'"

Nina took the steps, two at a time

Her mother and a good looking man of middle height were waiting in the hall. Little, plump, golden Honey with her blue eyes glowing like bits of bright sky.

Nina stretched out her hands, and forced herself to laugh.

She said, "So I trust you alone for three little weeks, and look what you do!"

She knew her mother would want her to take it that way They never — broke down over each other, as it were Sometimes Nina broke down alone, and worried herself sick over darling, gullible, impulsive Honey, whom her father, dying, had left in her care—but never openly

"Yes Look at it, lamb," Honey echoed. "It's Richard"

And Nina said "Hello," because she really didn't feel up on correct greetings for unexpected stepfathers. But her smile took away any suspicion of brusqueness

"This must be something of a shock to you, er—Nina. At this hour and all . . but Honey couldn't wait, naturally."

"Oh, the hour's all right," she laughed. "Just the shank of the evening for me . . . but thank heaven I'm quite sober. Or am I"

Nina tries to size up her new stepfather, tomorrow.

Photos of Co-eds in Nude Disturb Detroit Board

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Oct. 5—A candid camera's role in higher education, with photographs of coeds in the nude, commanded public interest today.

Following newspaper accounts of photography as practiced to correct posture at Wayne university, civic comment developed.

Promises of inquiry were made by two city board of education members, one a woman and one a man.

As explained by Dr. Irvin W. Sander, health service director at Wayne university, the pictures are made with the subjects masking themselves to conceal identity. A nurse is present.

What follows is a study of the photograph, made against a chart, to determine incorrect bearing, and exercises for improving the posture.

Dr. Sander, expressing astonishment at publicity when "this procedure has been so long in use at leading universities," said "many hundreds" of students have been photographed at Wayne since the project was begun in February and "only three" objected.

The non-compulsory service is available to men students as well, but it was the coed part of it which aroused comment.

Such photography, said Dr Margaret Bell, head of the women's health service at the University of Michigan, one of the schools named by Dr. Sander as doing that work is "routine" at virtually all colleges

—The— Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

A BOY, FOREVER

When women won the ballot and began helping themselves to all of men's cherished little privileges and vices, they believed that they would get as much fun out of life as men do.

Alas, they forgot that man is nature's pet—and that nature gave him all the breaks when she gave him that buoyant and irrepressible capacity for enjoying himself! When she made him "a-boy-forever," at heart!

If any of you were among those present last June, when the alumni of some of our bigger-and-better universities were celebrating their twenty-fifth anniversary you will get some idea of what I mean At one of these reunions, more than a hundred of these 50-year-old boys—tall ones, short ones, fat and thin ones—paraded around the stadium cunningly arrayed an made-up as Shirley Temple, short skirts, curls and all!

Never was the college yell given more lustily, or the old songs harmonized with more gusto and abandon Big business and high blood pressure were gone with the wind! Every mother's son of them seemed bursting with high spirits and enthusiasm And what a night they made of it, afterward! The town and the frat houses rang with it, until dawn. Just a lot of "good clean fun" that would give any woman nervous prostration!

Yet, at a woman's college only a few miles away, 30 members of the same class, all dressed in dignified white, marched sedately through the campus grounds to the chapel steps and sang—and somebody recite the class poem Ho-hum!

But that's the difference between a man and a woman. A man enjoys everything, his business, his games, and particularly his creature comforts He can play golf until he is ready to drop, and come in radiating joy and well-being. He always sleeps completely and serenely—and sometimes out loud. And he can get more real pleasure out of a hamburger sandwich than a woman can get out of squab on toast

Of course, when it comes to the more aesthetic pleasures like beauty, love, music, clothes and dancing, or like books, plays and good pictures, a woman can get a kick out of them. Yet, I doubt that a woman ever got as much satisfaction and real thrill out of a new fur coat as a man can get out of a bright new cravat—preferably a red one.

This is probably because woman is the responsible sex, and is always worrying about something. Even at a perfect party she will spend half the time wondering if her dress is right, if her nose needs powdering or if somebody is trying to kidnap her boy friend.

She may tint her gray hairs, have her face lifted and wear her skirts short; but she can't fool herself, thinking that she's "a girl forever"!

That's why a man gets more fun out of life in a week than a woman gets in a year.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Almonds.

WIDESPREAD KNOWLEDGE concerning the food value of nuts is responsible for their increased use in the American dietary. Since the World war great advances have been made in research experiments as to their nutritive value. The results made public have taught housewives much about the importance of these foods in the diet

This modern interest in all foods is a fine thing It makes for good health and long life. It stimulates interest in foods heretofore seldom used. It also teaches economy in their selection and preparation.

Almonds, like other nuts, were at one time a luxury food. Large shipments were imported to this country from South America, Asia and various parts of Europe. Few almonds were grown in the United States. Such as were found were gathered from wild nut trees, or from almond trees grown by the early settlers.

Today the situation is happily different. Large areas of land in California are devoted exclusively to the growing of almond trees. They yield thousands of tons yearly. The almond industry is large, involving millions of dollars and giving employments to thousands of individuals.

The almond tree is beautiful and closely resembles the peach tree. The almond is the seed of the fruit. There are two main types, the sweet and the bitter almond. The sweet almond is the variety which is best known and most commonly used. There are thin paper-shell almonds and hard-shell almonds Individual taste decides the choice.

Almonds have many uses in the diet. Blanched and salted almonds may easily be made at home or purchased ready for use. They are delicious and nutritious. Almonds and raisins, or almonds and dates, make a "different" and wholesome dessert. Broiled fish with an almond sauce is a tempting treat Almonds are also used extensively in baking and in making desserts and confections.

The almond is a valuable emergency food because it is a concentrated food. It contains carbohydrates, fat and protein. In addition, adequate amounts of vitamins and minerals are present.

The protein found in almonds is a "complete" protein. Over 20 per cent of this valuable substance is present in the nut. Proteins furnish energy and also build new tissues and repair worn-out tissue.

Because almonds contain over 50 per cent fat and 17 per cent carbohydrates, they are an excellent source of heat and energy for the body. Almond flour or meal made from ground almonds is nutritious. It is recommended in the diet of diabetics who have a taste for cakes and cookies.

Use almonds frequently in the diet. Their distinctive flavor and rich food elements make them an important addition to the list of valuable foods.
